BIG BOMBERS IN ATTACKS ON GERMANY

Pilots Brave Bitter Weather To Bomb Targets in Enemy Territory

ABBEVILLE AIRDROME RAIDED THREE TIMES

LONDON, Oct. 29 (CP).—Royal Air Force flyers, piloting large four-motored bombers as well as lighter craft, returned to their bases early this morning after braving a northerly gale to attack important objectives in Germany and the Nazi-occupied French coast.

The first show of the season was added to the icy gale over the Straits of Dover later in the day and there were no reports tonight of any additional bombing forays. Observers at Folkestone said, however, that R.A.F. fighters swept across the English Channel this morning.

An Air Ministry communique telling of the Tuesday night raids said that the big bombers attacked objectives in the south and southwest of Germany while the smaller planes bombed docks at Cherbourg and attacked German airdromes in Northern France. It said one airdrome near Abbeville was bombed three times in two hours with high explosive and incendiary bombs.

NO AIRCRAFT LOST

American-built Havocs were said by the Air Ministry's news service to have taken part in the raids over France. No British planes were lost in any of the overnight operations.

A Government communique said that some damage was caused by small-scale German raids on restricted points in Southwest England during the night, and that a small number of casualties were reported from one place. One German plane was reported destroyed.

CANADA OFFERS LEADER EXILE

Deposed President of Panama May Come to Dominion Subject to Conditions

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 (CP).—The Canadian Government has approved the application of Dr. Arnulfo Arias, deposed president of Panama, for admission to this Dominion subject to certain conditions, The Canadian Press learned on good authority today.

Considerations of high policy influenced the Government in its attitude towards Mr. Arias' application, it was said. It was considered desirable to get Dr. Arias in a place where he could do no harm to the Allied cause.

It is still undecided whether the ex-president will come to Canada and the Government here has not yet been advised whether the conditions it has set forth for allowing his admission will be met.

SOURCE OF EMBARRASSMENT

An informed source stated today that the continued presence in Nicaragua of Dr. Arias, who is suspected of pro-Axis or at least pro-totalitarian leanings in Latin-America, would be an embarrassment to the Government of Panama and also to the United States Government.

The British Government was also concerned in the possibilities of Dr. Arias' future activities in Latin-America.

As a belligerent country Canada has facilities for watching and controlling any undesirable activities on the part of residents which do not exist in any neutral countries and the suggestion that Dr. Arias be afforded the opportunity to live here met with the approval of the Government in view of the special circumstances.

FORMER PATRICIA BAY MAN MISSING OVERSEAS

He joined the Royal Canadian Air Force nine years ago and has been overseas only three months. Born in Rosetown, Sask., Wing Cmdr. Briese was a graduate of the University of Saskatchewan and before going to Britain was stationed at Patricia Bay, Vancouver Island, where his wife is now residing.

Il Duce's Flyers Not to Be Caught Without Comforts

CAIRO, Oct. 29 (CP).—So many Italian airmen have been captured in the Western Desert that some of them have begun to carry "traveling bags" with them when they take to the air. South African soldiers found a suitcase containing clothing and other equipment, in the cockpit of a fighter which made a forced landing. The Italian pilot explained he always carried the bag so that he would be comfortable if he was captured.

SESSION TO BE RESUMED

Parliament to Assemble on Monday—Prime Minister to Review War Situation

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 (CP).—Although a short sitting is in prospect, officials of the House of Commons expect a large attendance of members when Parliament resumes on Monday.

Speaker John A. Glen, of Marquette, Man., has already arrived in Ottawa to make arrangements for the sitting, and a few other members have opened their offices in the Parliament Buildings.

Highlights of the sitting are expected to be the tabling of reports by the war expenditures committee and speeches by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Conservative House Leader Hanson and ministers heading departments concerned with war activity.

As Parliament merely adjourned and did not prorogue last June next week's sitting will start off just as if members had been here all the time. There will be no opening formalities, no Speech from the Throne.

As announced recently by Mr. King the formal opening of a new session when the business for the year 1942 will be handled will take place early in the new year.

The exact course of discussion in the Commons has yet to be decided finally. Mr. King intends to give a general review of the war situation.

TO OFFER SUGGESTIONS

Mr. Hanson is also expected to speak of his overseas trip and offer some suggestions arising out of it.

Defence Minister Ralston, now on a trip to the United Kingdom, is expected to return in time to make a report on his trip and on army developments generally.

Leaders of the two smaller parties, M. J. Coldwell of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and John Blackmore of the New Democracy, are on a trip overseas with several other members and are not expected back in time to take part in the debates.

NOT ALLOWED TO HAVE EQUIPMENT

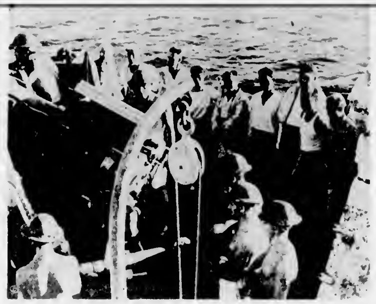
Cameras May Be Seized if Found in Areas Where War Restrictions Apply

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 (CP).—Cameras will in the future be prohibited in areas where war restrictions are already applied to photography, it is announced in a special edition of The Canada Gazette publishing a new order in council.

Since shortly after the outbreak of war photography has been prohibited in designated areas such as war industries, power plants and canals. The new order in council extends the restrictions and provides authority for uniformed officers to seize any photographic equipment found in a restricted area.

The only exception is for persons who have a written permit from "a competent authority" specified as the Minister of Justice or the Minister of National Defence.

British Warship Rescues Ship's Crew



Some of the twenty-four members of the crew of the United States freighter, Steel Seafarer, clustered around the gun and crew of the British warship which saved them after their vessel had been sunk by enemy action in the Red Sea at the entrance to the Gulf of Suez. The remainder of the ship's crew were taken out of the water by a Danish vessel.

Insurgent Serbs Battle to Death With Axis Troops

Two Hundred Patriots Killed in Yugoslavia During All-Night Fight—Clashes Frequent Between "Communists" and Army of Occupation—Scores of Persons Executed

BERNE, Oct. 29 (AP).—Two hundred Serbian insurgents were reported today to have been killed in a night-long battle with regular Axis occupation troops near the Yugoslav village of Belanovitch.

Dispatches to the Belgrade newspaper Novo Vreme said the insurgents were surrounded by troops, who brought up reinforcements when the fight assumed the character of a "veritable battle."

At dawn the fight continued with the greater part of the insurgent band destroyed, the newspaper said. It claimed that the insurgents were Communists and that only a few escaped. It mentioned no losses among the regular troops.

CLASHES ARE CONSTANT

Clashes between Communists and troops of occupation were said to have been constant. At Sabou-bitche during a five-hour fight, a number of alleged Communists were reported killed. At Prokupac, forty-two "Communists" were said to have been executed and a great quantity of war materials seized.

In another locality fifty-two were reported executed and eighteen made prisoner. Elsewhere, sixty were said to have been executed and seventeen made prisoner, the newspaper said. It added that throughout Serbia great quantities of arms and war equipment were found in homes of insurgents.

OFFERS PLAN TO REOPEN MINES

Roosevelt Seeks to End Strike Keeping 53,000 Miners Idle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP).—In a surprise White House conference President Roosevelt made a new proposal for reopening the strike-bound Captive coal mines today, and John L. Lewis promised a quick answer.

The plan, set before the United Mine Workers' leader and Myron C. Taylor, former chairman of United States Steel Corporation, is that the pits be reopened immediately with the understanding that the Defence Mediation Board would resume consideration of the dispute and make final recommendations.

It was set forth in a letter to William H. Davis, chairman of the mediation board.

MANY THOUSANDS IDLE

The strike has kept 53,000 miners idle since Sunday.

United States Steel owns some of the Captive Mines involved in the strike. The remainder are owned by other steel companies. The issue is the union's demand for a union shop.

Other strife spotted the defence labor picture today, but threat of a widespread walkout in Eastern plane factories apparently subsided. Richard T. Frankensteen, national director of the aviation division of the C.I.O. auto workers, announced strikers at the Bendix, N.J., plant of Air Associates, Inc., would go back to work tomorrow.

TO APPEAL FOR TOKEN STRIKE

General de Gaulle Urges All Frenchmen to Rest for Five Minutes Tomorrow

By The Canadian Press

The influence Britain and Free France can invoke by radio appeals for a token strike in Nazi-occupied lands will be put to the test tomorrow with main emphasis in France, where the Vichy Government in a new counter-move has decreed severe penalties for listening to foreign broadcasts.

By the new law Vichy appeared to acknowledge the effectiveness of General Charles de Gaulle and the British Broadcasting Corporation's Colonel Britton, sponsor of "V" for Victory.

FIVE-MINUTE STRIKE

De Gaulle has urged Frenchmen to strike for five minutes at 4 p.m. tomorrow in protest against the German executions of French hostages, and Colonel Britton is scheduled to give the strikers final instructions via radio at 3.45 p.m.

The B.B.C. said the instructions would be broadcast in French, Norwegian, Netherlands, Flemish, Polish, Czech, Greek, Serbo-Croat and German.

The Vichy decree, effective today, provides jail terms up to two years and fines up to the equivalent of $200 for listening in public or private to British or certain other foreign broadcasts, and six-month padlocking for any public place where a radio is tuned to stations deemed to have issued "anti-French propaganda."

Australian Budget Calls for Increase In War Expenditures

New Labor Government Drops Compulsory Savings Plan and Adds to Indirect Taxation—Production of Luxury Goods to Be Cut

CANBERRA, Oct. 29 (CP).—The Labor Government of Australia brought down its first budget today, calling for a record expenditure of £324,965,000 ($1,153,525,750) and increasing service pay and taxation, while decreasing civil expenditure and restricting production of luxury goods.

The compulsory savings plan has been dropped by Prime Minister John Curtin's Administration.

Commonwealth Treasurer Joseph B. Chifley in presenting his budget to Parliament called for war expenditure of £221,485,000, compared with £169,846,150 last year and with £216,923,000 in the Fadden budget.

The Opposition, it was indicated, was likely to attack the budget with the argument that it does not face the problem of preventing mass expenditure by the Commonwealth's earners and shrinks from the duty of imposing direct taxation on all earners.

General press comment was that the budget would result in more

IS CRITICAL OF PREMIER

Hanson Says Prime Minister Ignored Parliament in Economic Matters

TORONTO, Oct. 29 (CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King's attitude to Parliament is comparable to the totalitarianism prevailing in Europe today, Hon. R. B. Hanson, Conservative House leader, told party members at an Albany Club luncheon here today. Mr. Hanson said that Mr. King "ignores Parliament."

"As the months go by Parliament assembles, but by reason of the Prime Minister's attitude to it it is reduced to the status of a debating society," Mr. Hanson said. "When you consider the advances which are being made in Canada toward the totalitarian state, especially remembering what is now being done in the economic field, it means that the representatives of the people no longer count in the Government of Canada.

STATE OF TOTALITARIANISM

"A substantial amount of regimentation may be necessary in wartime but when a man, especially a so-called Liberal such as Mr. King, takes on himself the regimentation of production on the eve of the assembling of Parliament, then I say we have reached a state of totalitarianism that is only equalled by that to be found in Europe today.

"The representatives of the people go through the form of voting supply, but their opportunity of helping to win the war is limited to this function."

Reiterating a previously expressed belief that Canada should have a National Government, Mr. Hanson said that had there been the proper type of leadership at Ottawa many of the labor troubles in Canada would not have occurred.

The Canadian people, he said, have no idea of the immensity of the task which faces the democratic nations if Hitler is to be defeated.

ITALIANS UNABLE TO GO FORWARD

Admit Being Put On Defensive by Russian Counter-Attacks on Eastern Front

ROME, Oct. 29 (AP).—The Italian Stefani News Agency reported today that Italian troops on the Eastern front had been halted and put on the defensive for the last eight days by Russian counter-attacks.

An Italian column fighting in the Stalino zone of the Ukraine front was heavily engaged by Russian infantry supported by artillery, the dispatch said.

"The enemy launched a very strong counter-attack investing our column from the flanks and attempting to strike it from the rear," Stefani continued.

"The column had not had a moment's peace and rest in eight days."

The dispatch said Russian attacks and aerial bombardments were "furious" but claimed the Italian troops "never ceded a millimetre of ground."

GERMANS IN KHARKOV BUT COST OF TAKING ENORMOUS

Russians Claim 120,000 Nazis Killed or Wounded By Defenders Holding Lines—Factories and Stocks of Materials Moved Out Before City Evacuated—Plants Destroyed

Germans Say Their Troops Pouring Into the Caucasus

KUIBYSHEV, Oct. 30 (Thursday) (AP).—Latest dispatches from the southern front today acknowledged the Germans had unleashed a new offensive against the Crimean Peninsula with large-scale use of tanks, planes and artillery, but stated the Russian defenders were resisting bitterly.

MOSCOW, Oct. 30 (Thursday) (AP).—The Red Army acknowledged evacuation of the great Ukraine industrial city of Kharkov today, but said most of the important factories and huge stocks of raw materials were moved out before the city was abandoned.

A total of 120,000 German officers and men were killed or wounded by Red defenders who held the Kharkov lines while the industrial plants were taken to the rear in the "leapfrog" retreat of Russian industries as well as armies, said the early morning communique broadcast by official wireless.

PLANS FRUSTRATED

It asserted Soviet troops had frustrated German plans to capture Kharkov "as early as September."

(The Germans reported capture of the city on Saturday.)

The early morning communique issued by the Soviet Bureau of Information and transmitted by official wireless said also that a series of fierce German attacks on the Moscow front had been beaten off by Soviet troops.

It said fighting continued in the Volokolamsk, Mozhaisk and Maloyaroslavets areas of the Moscow defences, all of which had been mentioned in previous communiques.

"The Germans planned to capture Kharkov as early as September, but these plans of the German Command remained on paper," the communique said.

STRATEGIC CONSIDERATIONS

"Kharkov has been left by our troops for strategic considerations at a time when the Soviet Command deemed it expedient and not when the Germans wanted it.

"During this period, all the most important factories and plants, railway rolling stock, raw materials, stores and other valuables were evacuated from the town in time.

"Several medium and small plants of military importance were blown up.

"In the fighting for Kharkov the German Fascist troops lost nearly 120,000 men and officers killed and wounded, over 450 tanks and armored cars, nearly 3,000 trucks with various military supplies and over 200 guns of various calibre."

BEATING GERMANS BACK

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Oct. 29 (AP).—The Red armies were said tonight to be beating the Germans back in general counter-attacks all along the Moscow approaches, and a high organ of the Soviet Union proclaimed that Hitler now faces failure.

Soviet military dispatches took on a tone of confidence as to the struggle for Moscow. Standing on earlier claims that six of every ten men attacking Moscow's approaches had fallen, and that it now was apparent the capital could never fall, they acknowledged but one qualified reverse on the whole of the Central front.

This was that fighting had extended to Volokolamsk, sixty-five miles above Moscow, thus somewhat complicating the northwestern defensive position about Kalinin, an additional thirty miles to the northwest, where action also was heavy. Whether Volokolamsk represented an earlier advance of German spearheads down from Kalinin was not known.

SLIGHT PROGRESS

(The Moscow radio, as heard in London, stated the Germans in a seven-day drive had made slight progress northward toward Tula, a munitions centre 100 miles below Moscow. This, however, appeared of no immediate consequence in the struggle for the capital.)

But even in the northwest, as in other sectors, it was claimed that

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province

(Copyright 1941 by Southam Co.)

LONDON, Oct. 29 (By Cable).—Violent fighting around Moscow has brought the Nazi invaders within seventy-five miles of the city to the northwest in the neighborhood of Volokolamsk. The German advance, however, has slowed down because of bitter weather and deep mud.

The Berlin military spokesman, according to The Times' correspondent on the German frontier, alleges Russian resistance has been overcome, but the Nazi forces cannot gain headway because of execrable roads.

The enemy's advance in the South has brought him within fifteen miles of Rostov-on-Don and this situation, The Times' military correspondent describes as grave.

In the Donetz basin the Germans have not yet been checked. Apparently, Marshal Timoshenko has not been able to consolidate his forces as he did when in charge of operations for the defence of Moscow.

Winter has now set in along the northern and central battle zones. Snow and cold winds are prevalent, and the invaders are likely to suffer from the absence of shelter and warm clothing.

From Stockholm, The Times' correspondent reports the Germans are gathering forces for another blow at the Russian capital as soon as the rains cease and the front hardens the ground now many feet deep in mud.

It is doubted in Sweden whether German troops have yet been equipped to withstand the Russian Winter despite the wholesale looting of Winter clothing from Norwegians.

Swedish correspondents behind the German lines in the Ukraine describe how the Russians have left nothing but desolation behind them. Crops have been destroyed or carried off, time bombs left behind to wreck evacuated cities and bridges and railways blown up. Nazi attempts to sow Winter crops have failed, the lack of seed grain having proved an insurmountable handicap.

* * *

In Odessa, time bombs are still exploding, destroying one great public building after another and inflicting serious loss of life among the German staff officers.

The Nazi losses around Kharkov approaches have been enormous, the fields being littered with corpses. The Soviet army newspaper Red Star, asking, "shall we hold the south?" says the first German attack on the Crimea was a failure, the second attack has brought small gains.

The battle is still raging and the danger is great. This zone has become of great importance and the invaders must now be stopped at any cost.

"Our losses," says the newspaper, "are considerable, but our reserves are inexhaustible. The enemy will bleed to death."

* * *

In Japan, says The Times' Tokio correspondent, members of the Diet and newspaper editors urge a movement to mediate between Germany and Russia to bring about an armistice. The Russians are told they will get from Hitler "the same lenient conditions he granted to France."

It now seems likely Japan is to be used as the agent to put out peace feelers for the Nazis.

English Sailor Tells Most Vivid Story of Sea Ever Broadcast

Describes in Simple but Dramatic Words Harrowing Hours Spent on Raft After Sinking of Ship by German Raider

LONDON, Oct. 29 (CP).—This is the story Frank Laskier told in vivid, unrehearsed words of the nightmare hours he spent at sea, 800 miles from land, after his ship was sunk by a German raider.

A merchant seaman since he was sixteen, Laskier spoke to millions of people through British Broadcasting Corporation. He made the recording for his speech in a Liverpool cafe without script, without rehearsal and without prompting.

"I am a sailor, an Englishman and my first name is Frank," said the seaman, beginning what has since been called "the most vividly told story of the sea ever broadcast."

He spoke first of four friends, shipmates and schoolmates—himself, Billy, George and Charlie. Frank and Charlie were in love with the same girl; she married Charlie. Frank was groomsman at their wedding.

ONLY ONE OF FOUR

"Of those four men I sit here now with a funny little stump where a good right foot used to be," he recounted. "Billy was blown to hell on a mine sweeper, George went down with the Courageous." Charlie was on the same ship as Frank when they were sunk by the raider. Charlie was killed.

"The raft we took to when our ship was sunk was the size of about six orange boxes lashed together.

Tobruk Defence Rests With Finest Feats of British Empire Arms

Correspondent Describes Life in Beleagured Libyan Port—Never a Day Without Danger and Excitement—Garrison Confident

North American Newspaper Alliance

TOBRUK, Oct. 29 (By Wireless).—It is not difficult to realize after a few days here why Tobruk has been described as "the Verdun of the desert." The feat of Australian and other Imperial troops in holding this 150-square-mile area of barren wadi-slashed country deserves to rank among the finest achievements of British arms.

This is my first sight of Tobruk since February, when I passed through the town on my way back to Egypt from Benghasi. The town bore many battle scars then. They were inflicted by British shells and bombs in the bombardment which preceded the collapse of Tobruk's Italian garrison.

Now those scars are enormously multiplied. The enemy's bombers and long-range guns have for six months plastered the town with high explosive and hurling steel, smashing many buildings but never smashing the spirit of the defenders.

A number of sunken ships lay in the harbor when the Australians entered Tobruk in January. Notable among them was the Italian cruiser San Giorgio, which lay on the harbor bed in shallow water with its superstructure aflame. The San Giorgio and other sunken Italian ships still lie in the harbor but now some Allied ships have been added to them.

UNTIL ISSUE DECIDED

And yet Tobruk's defenders carry on as, after talking with them, I am convinced they will carry on until the issue of the struggle in the Western Desert is finally decided.

I have called on a number of the Australian front-line units during the last few days. The officers and men look just as tough as you would expect them to look after over six months in Tobruk's Summer heat and dust.

I talked to the commander of a battalion which was one of the first units to enter Tobruk after the withdrawal from Benghasi. This battalion held a four-and-three-quarter-mile front here for three weeks without a single man in reserve. They talk jokingly about it now but they admit that it was anxious work while it lasted.

A brigadier, whose brigade has done admirable work in helping to hold Tobruk, told me:

"Patrolling has played a great part in keeping the enemy outside the perimeter. Patrols have been out every night and every man has taken his turn. They have performed miracles in finding their way across this trackless, featureless country in pitch darkness. The information they brought in has been absolutely accurate. We have checked and cross-checked it but never found fault with it."

BOTH FINE SOLDIERS

Australian commanders' experience inside Tobruk does not indicate that city bred men necessarily are inferior to country bred soldiers. For instance, two of the most successful patrolmen in one battalion are, respectively, a sheep farmer and a Sydney law clerk.

The sheep farmer invariably goes out armed with nothing except a large ugly sheath knife, which he has not yet had a chance to use. He was with a patrol one night when it penetrated the enemy's lines. It was decided that members of the party should shed their boots to enable them to move more stealthily. They carried out a long reconnaissance behind the enemy's line and then found their way back to the place where they left their boots. However, one man was unable to find his boots so the sheep farmer surrendered his and returned to the Australian lines barefooted across a country studded with sharp stones, which might have been expected to tear his feet to pieces but did not.

It is that spirit which has held Tobruk, a spirit of willingness to face hardships, difficulties and dangers to get the job done.

The men here are immensely cheerful about their life. I do not suggest that they would refuse to change their hard conditions for a soft spot. They are human enough to look forward to the day when they will be at liberty to drink beer instead of brackish water and to buy unlimited cigarettes.

Any one of them will tell you he would give a week's pay to sleep in a soft bed instead of in a hole in the ground or to wallow in a hot bath again. It is because these things exist and Tobruk's defenders know it and still they carry on with the job that makes the fight they have put up all the more admirable. It is interesting too to learn that these men, like the Tommies and Australians and New Zealanders who fought in Greece and Crete, no longer regard the German soldier as superior.

GERMANS NOT SO SMART

A private who has lost count of the number of patrols on which he has gone out told me:

"These Jerries are not so smart. We can lick them any time on patrolling and they are not so tough either. They are tougher than the Italians but they die just as quick when you find the right spot."

As I write guns are booming somewhere up in the forward sector from which I have just returned. Still, it is rare when a half hour passes in Tobruk without the near rumblings of warfare.

I was sitting in a wadi last night when enemy air raiders came over the harbor, dropping parachute flares and following them up with bombs. They got a warm reception from the harbor defences, and the night was brilliant for twenty minutes with glittering tracer and gun flashes.

That's how life goes on in Tobruk. There is never a day without its danger and excitement. But Tobruk's garrison can take it. They will see it through.

KHARKOV TAKEN AT HUGE COST

Soviet troops, tanks and powerful artillery strongly held the initiative. Above Moscow, said dispatches, four village positions were regained in violent Red counter-thrusts concurrent with those that appeared to be slowly straightening out the Russian lines in the vicinities of Mozhaisk, fifty-seven miles west of the capital, and of Maloyaroslavets, sixty-five miles southwest.

Summing up the Soviet account of the invasion to date, Pravda, the official Communist newspaper, acknowledged the Donets Basin in the Ukraine, Rostov on the River Don and the Crimea were in great peril, and that on the whole front from the Arctic to the Black Sea the grey waves from the west still had not been generally halted.

But, it said, all the German gains had been accomplished with almost the whole of the German land army along with the armies of Nazi "vassal" states, and with nearly the entire German strength in artillery, in tanks and aerial squadrons.

PLAN HAS COLLAPSED

And now, the paper went on, although much of great value in Western Russia was lost "we can say that Hitler's plan has collapsed, for it is perfectly clear that no temporary successes can bring Nazi Germany her desired victory and peace."

The Soviet millions, it added, were growing stronger in wrath as the German people became wearier of war and the Soviet Union "has everything necessary for further resistance."

In Eastern Russia, far behind the present battle lines, Pravda went on, there were sufficient resources of all the raw necessities of war—coal, iron ore, oil, lumber—and of food as well as "powerful industrial bases which had been developed rapidly during the years of Stalin's five-year plan."

"We will last," the paper went on, "as long as it shall take to smash Hitlerite Germany, to destroy the brown pestilence."

And behind Russia's yet untapped reserves of men and materials, the paper added, were "Great Britain and the United States with their immense material and man power resources. The time will come when all of these will go into action."

GERMAN CLAIMS

BERIN, Oct. 29 (AP)—According to High Command claims, thousands of German troops tonight were pouring into the strategic Crimean Peninsula after cracking Russian defences, apparently on the narrow Perekop Isthmus in a ten-day battle.

Almost 300 miles to the east along the northern rim of the Black Sea other German units were claimed struggling over muddy roads only ten miles short of Rostov, springboard for a turn southward into the Caucasus oil region.

News of operations on the Moscow and Leningrad fronts was almost blacked out here. A few sketchy reports told only of aerial bombing of those two cities. Bad weather slowed up action in these sectors, but the Germans denied their war was "stuck in the mud."

In the claimed break-through into the Crimea, the High Command said 15,700 Russians, thirteen tanks, 100 guns and other war material were captured.

Strategically the Crimea is important to the Germans because of their belief it will afford naval bases to facilitate the army's overland drive toward the Caucasus.

CAPT. H. DAVENPORT

LIKE so many Victoria men, the sons of Mr and Mrs. William Davenport, 1174 Hewlett Place, are both in the service of their country. Capt. H. Davenport, R.C.A.M.C., has followed his first love and is in the army again as quartermaster of a field ambulance unit in a Canadian active service division. Lieut. Wilfred Davenport, R.C.N.R., naturally joined the Royal Canadian Navy, after being at sea since he was apprenticed as a cadet in the old Ss Robert Dollar. He came as a boy from the old Boys' Naval Brigade and subsequently served in the Jardine-Matheson Line on the China seas and with the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand. His brother, Capt. Davenport, left Oak Bay High School in 1916 at the age of seventeen to go overseas with the 196th Universities Battalion, C.E.F. After the war he studied pharmacy and served in the Royal Jubilee Hospital and as a commercial pharmacist. When it was first organized, he joined the 13th Field Ambulance as lieutenant and quartermaster, to later qualify as a major. At the outbreak of war Capt. Davenport reverted in rank to become active and acted as garrison adjutant and later in charge of medical stores at Work Point. He is married and has three sons.

Complaints Made Against Compensation Board to Be Replied To

VANCOUVER, Oct. 29 (CP)—J. A. MacInnes, counsel for the British Columbia Workmen's Compensation Board, said here today that each of ninety complaints made against the board at hearings of a Royal Commission investigating into operations of the Workmen's Compensation Act will be answered in detail.

Mr. Justice Gordon Sloan, commissioner in charge of the investigation, asked MacInnes if the board's replies to complaints could not be limited to those bearing directly on the question of a medical appeal board as suggested by some groups of workmen.

"I would be glad to accede were it not that somebody later on might say the board hadn't answered a complaint, that we voluntarily abandoned or backed away from any charge," the board counsel replied.

"We are prepared to meet every one of the so-called charges and I want the record to show that," he said. "I don't want it to appear on the record that we allowed ourselves to be shut off."

The inquiry will continue here tomorrow, with Dr. Giles B. Murphy, board medical officer, in the witness box.

"The bombs they (the Germans) dropped landed in La Linea (Spain) and the sea," he told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Kirk. "I guess they are afraid to come low enough to bomb us accurately. I haven't heard a bomb burst since I left England."

Lieut. Kirk enlisted nearly two years ago at Toronto and received his commission after studying at Sandhurst.

U.S. ARMY BOMBER MAKES LONG TRIP

Completes Round-the-World Flight With Members of Aid-to-Russia Mission

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 29 (AP)—A four-motored United States Army bomber completed an unheralded 'round-the-world flight upon its arrival at March Field yesterday with members of the aid-to-Russia mission.

Reports said the plane had thirty bullet holes in its wings as mementoes of its flight over warring nations.

The hop from Hawaii marked the first Pacific Ocean flight of a B-24, although many of the bombers have crossed the Atlantic to Great Britain.

The craft took off today for the East, presumably for Washington, after which news of the flight was made public.

Insulin Now Used in Shell-Shock Cases; Results Successful

British Soldiers Evacuated From Dunkerque Given Treatment and Cures Noted in Month —Men Not to Go Back to Army

By THOMAS R. HENRY
(Former Editor, North American Newspaper Alliance)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Shell-shocked British soldiers are being cured by mild doses of insulin. The treatment has been used successfully on men evacuated from Dunkerque whose nerves were wrecked by their harrowing experiences, according to a report just published in The Lancet, official journal of the British Medical Association.

For some years "insulin shock" has been used in treating victims of the common mental disease, schizophrenia. Very large doses are given. The patient is thrown into deep unconsciousness, usually with convulsions. The coma can be ended by injecting a sugar solution into the veins.

The war victims, however, are not insane, in any true sense of the word. The symptoms, as described by Drs. William Sargent and Neville Craske who originated the new treatment, are usually a mixture of profound depression, exhaustion, lethargy, loss of appetite, inability to think clearly, and constant nervous tension. In civilian life they were fairly well balanced individuals who have broken down under extraordinary stress.

The system is to administer a dose of insulin just under the amount necessary to cause unconsciousness or convulsions. As soon as signs of either appear, sugar is given in a cup of tea. The drug is given at 7 a.m. on an empty stomach. Three hours later, containing two ounces of sugar is provided, in addition to which the patient eats nearly a pound of potatoes. These are believed to produce much the same effect as sugar, of which there is a scarcity in Britain.

EFFECT OF TREATMENT

The result is a profound drowsiness, which may last for twenty-four hours. The next day the treatment is repeated. Seldom are more than two of these "sub shocks" given. Generally there is an immediate increase in appetite and gain in weight. The mental condition improves gradually but usually the cure is complete in about a month.

One great advantage of the treatment, Drs. Sargent and Craske report, is that it is cheap and can be administered to twenty or more

ASKS MINISTER FOR STATEMENT

Catholic Group Wants Retraction From Howe on Arvida Strike

ARVIDA, Que., Oct. 29 (CP).—The National Syndicate of Catholic Workers tonight made public a letter sent to Munitions Minister Howe asking him to retract his statement July 29 that a strike at the Aluminum Company of Canada plant here was "a suspected case of enemy sabotage."

The letter, dated October 24, said the report of the Royal Commission which investigated the five-day strike had made it clear that "there was neither sabotage nor intention of sabotage at Arvida from July 24 to 29 inst."

It added delegates to the syndicate's annual convention at Hull, Que., last month had "unanimously shared the indignation manifested by the Arvida workers when the word 'sabotage' was hurled at them and the confidence installed that those sentiments be conveyed to you, as soon as the Royal Commission's findings were made public, if the inquiry exonerated the Arvida workers of all charges of sabotage."

NOTHING YET DONE

The letter said the syndicate expected that Mr. Howe would retract the statement "after having learned the conclusions reached by the Royal Commission," but that "several days elapsed and nothing has been done in this direction."

The syndicate said that Mr. Howe's statement was "a suspected case of sabotage" but that certain newspapers, recognized as hostile to the working class, not feeling to go much further and making the best of the occasion, used expressions highly unjust and even corrosive to the national unity, speaking for example of the Arvida minority' and 'the Arvida crime,' etc."

"You will easily understand, as why the N.S.C.W., its affiliated bodies and the Arvida workers were indignant as they were, following your declaration and the regrettable comments springing from it. We expect then that you will make the requested retraction, to re-establish the facts and to render justice to the interested parties."

THREE SOLDIERS WIN SUSPENDED SENTENCE IN COURT AT NANAIMO

NANAIMO, Oct. 29.—A verdict of guilty, with a strong recommendation for leniency, was returned by an Assize Court jury here today, presided over by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson, in the trial of three members of Eldon Savage, nineteen, Frederick Parkinson, twenty-three, and Norman Carter, nineteen, who in July last in Provincial Police Court were sentenced by Magistrate C. S. Reade Pettis to two years in jail with penalties for having robbed with violence Lee Wan a Chinese in Nanaimo Chinatown.

The prisoners today were sentenced to one year sentence to be suspended and were ordered to pay the Chinese the sum of $50 as recompense for damages teeth sustained in the assault. The accused were ordered into custody of their platoon commander, Lieutenant Percy James, to be returned to their regiment stationed at Colwood.

British Gas Experts Warn That Nazis May Have New Chemicals

Recent Distribution of Manual on Chemical Warfare Anticipates Action by Germans in Case Other Means of Attack Fail

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—England still expects the "Shrecklichkeit." The Nazis still have some nasty tricks with new poison gasses, the Medical Corps of the British Army warns in a new manual of chemical warfare issued to prepare the civilian population, as well as soldiers, for what may be anticipated.

Early in the war, gas masks were issued to everybody in British cities. For a time it was a minor offence to appear in the open without one tucked around the neck, and theoretically, at least, one was liable to a fine if caught by a policeman.

But as two years have gone by without a gas attack the majority have come to minimize the danger. No new gases are described in The Chemical Warfare Manual, but increases are techniques in the distribution of the terrible gas and lewisite. The latter an American development at the close of the last war, never has been used in actual combat.

All ordinary clothing the manual warns is pervious to mustard in its liquid form and even the most effective respirators will save the face and throat only if donned in time. The garlic-like odor of the gas unfortunately is faint in low concentrations.

The action of this gas in the last war the manual explains, "was confined, in the great majority of casualties, to that of the vapor given off by ground contaminated by shells. But if used at all now it is likely that it will be extensively used from aircraft directly on personnel exposed in the open or by bombs on areas which it is desired to deny the enemy. Crews liquid contamination may be used on dumps of ammunition airdromes and dockyards with a view to rendering material dangerous to handle."

Lewisite the manual warns may be used at any time. An area sprayed with this gas lacks the insidious dangers of one similarly contaminated with mustard, since in ordinary circumstances which are so low as to be harmless to vapor has a powerful smell and irritates the respiratory tract.

The populace is warned that no wearing material will disappear completely impervious to mustard. Penetration by the liquid or by the vapor evolved from it is only a question of time. "Protective clothing" only means wearing apparel more resistant to penetration than ordinary garments.

There passed away on October 1 at Great Malvern, Worcestershire England, Emanuel J. Salmon in his ninety-first year. Mr. Salmon was for many years a resident of Victoria, arriving in this city from England in 1870 where he engaged in business until his retirement in 1910 when he returned to England.

Mr. Salmon was well and favourably known here, and had a wide circle of friends. He founded the first court of the Ancient Order of Foresters and held the office of district chief ranger for British Columbia. At the time of his death he had been a continuous member of the order for seventy-one years. He was also a member of Victoria Columbia Lodge of the Masons, having been worshipful master in 1883, and was an honorary member of the craft.

He is survived by his widow in England, a brother in Washington and a sister Jessie M. L. Salmon of Mount Newton, Saanich.

Gasoline Supply Is Running Low

Gasoline distributors here have not been notified that Ottawa will release supplies to them to overcome a threatened shortage and in the meantime many local stations are displaying "No Gasoline" signs as their October supply quotas run out.

By Friday, Nitle fuel will be available. One large distributor reported yesterday that at least twenty of its retail outlets would be 'dry' before nightfall.

Under the November gasoline quotas, some stations will suffer a curtailment of 18 per cent as compared with their October allowances. Allowances for the forthcoming month are based upon a formula designed to allow for a normal increase in the number of cars from last year, and distributors are now working out what the November quotas will mean to them.

In setting quotas for service stations the volume of business they have done over a stated period is taken into account. Some stations, accordingly, will be only lightly affected.

Sentence was reserved. The charge arose out of the last Federal general election campaign in March, 1940.

LEADERSHIP AND POLICY

There is to be a conference of the Conservative Party at Ottawa on November 7. One of its primary purposes is to decide the advisability, or otherwise, of holding a national convention for the purpose of choosing a leader and outlining a platform. Mr R B. Hanson, the present leader of the Conservatives in Parliament, has let it be understood that he is not in the running for the position of leader of the national party. He is as anxious as anyone else that the question of leadership should be decided, and without any further loss of time. There is no shadow of doubt that Conservatives throughout the length and breadth of the country are persuaded that the longer the selection of a leader is delayed, the greater is the likelihood of the fortunes of the party continuing to decline.

As matters stand in the Federal field, the Conservative representation in the House of Commons is too small and its calibre too weak to have any really constructive effect on the course of government in the country. The party as a whole has been leaderless too long, for, while Mr. Hanson is fulfilling his temporary duties actively and assiduously, he suffers under the handicap of only filling in time until a national head of the Conservatives is chosen. Moreover, the Conservatives, because of lack of a revised and up-to-date platform which will be lacking until a national convention reaches decisions, are somewhat at sea in the policies they advocate, are, indeed, driven in the main to the task of opposing those aspects of war effort which they think are insufficient, but lacking the leadership to urge specific efforts by a course of action that they know would appeal to the party all over the Dominion. They need a rallying centre, they cannot have it without the leadership which can only be decreed by a national convention. It seems, therefore, in the interests of the fortunes of the party that there should be such leadership without delay. Any policy which continues to postpone a decision cannot further the fortunes of the Conservatives; may, indeed, continue to have adverse results on these.

In the matter of a platform what should be placed in the forefront is the conscription of man-power for overseas service and such other methods to mobilize the country's resources as would mean that Canada would be in the war to the utmost of her strength. It is the nature of the victory that will determine the character of post-war reconstruction. That is a fact that is rarely emphasized by political parties. It should be brought into relief in any platform prepared by the Conservatives. The superlative task of the time is to win the war. To do so, to make victory complete, to make any policy of post-war reconstruction possible, much more must be done than is being done in marshalling the resources that will defeat Hitlerism.

Mr Hanson, following a trip to Great Britain, tells the Canadian people that the salvation of the Empire demands immediately "an infinitely greater contribution than we have made." He says, moreover, that at the bar of history Canada will be judged by the man-power in which she responds to the challenge. This is one aspect of war effort in which the Conservatives, by putting in their platform the conscription of man-power for overseas service, can give the country at least an installment of that leadership which is so sadly lacking in political affairs.

TOO MUCH REGULATION

The friends of bureaucracy, when they set out to defend the too prevalent practice of delegating extensive powers to administrative boards, sometimes do so on the ground of a certain political theory, popular in some quarters. It is a theory that exalts the importance of the state and seeks to diminish the status of the individual. It insists that the business of government is to govern, and that in the interest of the state the activities of the citizens should be supervised by competent administrators, that the day of "laissez faire" is over and so is the era of free competition. What is now needed, it seems, is community action in a planned economy under the wise direction of government. Individuals, if they are not kept strictly under restraint, become too wayward and self-willed for their own good, and more especially for the good of the community.

If the theory outlined above is sound, if in accordance with this kind of reasoning, free competition, individual rights, individual initiative and personal enterprise are to be regarded as things of a past or a passing age, if the state is to be magnified and the people depressed and suppressed, then administrative boards with large powers are excellent things and the more of them the better.

The foregoing, or something very like it, represents the political outlook of some militant social reformers. Others, less dogmatic in temper, condescend to argue the matter by adapting their discourse to the understanding of the man in the street. Even the man in the street, if he puts his mind to it, can understand an explanation based on the simple and familiar principle of analogy. Accordingly, he is invited to consider an analogy drawn from a well-known feature of life in any modern town or city, namely, the supervision of street traffic. These reasoners lean heavily on the fact that as a city increases in population and in the volume of its street traffic more police power is necessary to keep the traffic moving. They invite us to compare this with that regulation of the flow of merchandise in the channels of trade. They are convinced in their own minds that here is an excellent example of analogical reasoning. It runs as follows: The traffic of vehicles and pedestrians in city streets resembles the movement of goods from producer to consumer. What is true of the crowds on the streets and sidewalks is equally true of the goods in the channels of trade. You need more and more police power for the crowds as they increase, and it is reasonable to infer that an ever-increasing number of officials must be appointed to supervise and direct the flow of goods.

Analogy, however, has its limitations. Some analogical arguments yield a high degree of probability and some even reach complete logical certainty, but the value of others may be so slight as to be quite negligible. It is always a good idea to weigh, not merely to count, the points of resemblance in an analogy. In this case there is, in fact, but little resemblance between the living traffic of car drivers and pedestrians and the traffic of lifeless goods and commodities in the channels of trade. Human traffic as it increases in volume is naturally apt to become disorderly. It has a will of its own and will get out of hand if police power is weak. A lifeless stream of boxes and bales has no will of its own. The power of self-determination is present in one case and absent in the other. Accordingly, the supposed analogy breaks down and so does the argument based upon it.

[illegible]

Rostov, now threatened by the Germans, is the location of large oil refineries which lie at the end of the pipeline running to that point from the Caucasian oilfields. The city, an important centre of Russian resistance, lies at the mouth of the River Don. It is noted that there have been few air raids on Rostov, the plan of the Germans being, in the event of its capture, to use the refineries, the storage tanks and railway yards and to establish there a base from which an attack on the Caucasus could be launched. Rostov may well prove a turning point in their campaign if they are able to occupy it. It is 400 miles distant from Batum. It remains to be seen if a successful campaign against the Caucasus could be carried out under wintry conditions, but that it is an object in view is evident.

The Germans are persuaded that if they could accomplish this task Turkey would be forced to fall into the orbit of the Axis Powers. There is significance in the fact that two of Turkey's highest ranking generals have been visiting the German front in Russia and that they have been entertained at Herr Hitler's headquarters. No doubt, what is intended has been explained to them, and they in turn will inform their Government at Ankara. Turkey desires to stand aloof from the warring complications in the Near East. Germany has other intentions, and before long will force Turkey to declare herself either as a friend or enemy of the Axis.

UNCHANGED

The result of the provincial election in Nova Scotia is, to all intents and purposes, "as you were." The Government of Premier A. S. MacMillan has been sustained in office by a majority, twenty-three to seven, one less than it enjoyed in the last Legislature. The C.C.F. party won three seats and the Conservatives have lost one. A Liberal Government continues in power with overwhelming support. The issues were purely local ones and the contest, as seen from this long range, was a colorless one, illustrating that the people of Nova Scotia are content with things as they are in the administration of their provincial affairs. If there is any lesson to be derived from the outcome it is that, despite the experience in British Columbia, Liberalism is still the dominant political force in Eastern Canada. The C.C.F. won three seats, all in Cape Breton, the scene of the recent slowdown in coal production.

AN INVITATION TO FRIGHTFULNESS

Censorship moves in a mysterious way about the character of information that it considers should be suppressed and in what it permits to come to light. In Great Britain and all over the world stories are now being published of the extent to which normal life is being resumed in London because that city has been free from air raids for three months. Stress is laid on the crowds that again frequent the streets. This, if anything, will be an invitation to the savagery of the Luftwaffe to resume its attacks on the populace. The same silence as, for instance, is maintained about life in Liverpool might well be applied to London. The latter city, in all conscience, has suffered enough without the vagaries of censorship being contributory to incurring new evidences of Nazi frightfulness.

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

The little black notebook is full again; and I am distressed to find how little has been done about what was in it. The first note had reference to this neurological age. In the middle of a general election it did not seem fair to mention it. The fact remains, however, that nervous strain is playing a decided part in public and private affairs today; and that people should seek a rest for the mind on some part of each working day. I read books guaranteed to [illegible] eral theory that if a work lasts that long there must be something in it.

• • •

Some of the notes you have had. We have discussed "Many Happy Returns of Tomorrow," with all that tomorrow can, and will, bring to a troubled world. As a sub-note to that was the coming of age of man; but I threw that out. It does not appear that man has really come of age yet. That, perhaps, will happen on the day after tomorrow, when there will be no more grown children to be spoiled and petted, and when every man may be counted upon for a man's part in life.

• • •

"The Link Trainer for Mankind." There was a note for you. If you can put a man in a machine and discover his aptitudes for flying, why cannot you build a bigger and better machine to determine his prospects as a businessman, a husband, an alderman, a member of parliament? The machine, of course, would have to weigh his heart, his head, and that indefinable thing called personality.

• • •

"Our Friend, the Adversary" was meant to be a tribute to those who oppose us in our daily lives. There is probably nothing better for man than to have to struggle a little for what he wants. It increases the value of attainment. It sharpens the mind and the muscles; and it has been known, upon occasion, to enlarge the heart. In many lives the deepest debt of gratitude is owing and unpaid to obstacles; seldom though we acknowledge that to be so. Achievement in any sphere comes, not from coasting on the plain, but from toiling up the hill; from swimming, not with, but against the stream.

• • •

"The Tribesman" should have been written. It concerned a very small boy, with sagging socks, who trudged gamely after a noisy file of playtime Indians in a field. He wanted desperately to be an Indian, you could see that. But he had to be convinced that scalping would not hurt; that war-paint—a mixture of tar and road oil—would come off again; and, in short, that he could be an Indian in the afternoon, and a paleface again in time for supper. The problem was adjusted with sundry war-whoops under the personal direction of Chief Bright-Eyes. As a matter of truth, the war-paint did not come off for three whole days; by which time heaven alone knows what torture the paleface suffered in the washroom of his wigwam.

• • •

"Trees of Character" was written. Today you can see for yourself the trees. The leaves have come down. There stand the trees, unadorned and black against the evening sky. No two of them, even in the same row, are alike. This one bent to the wind. That one meandered in its struggling fashion on the hillside. Here is a tree with amputations. There, again, is one that man has permitted to grow whole. Each, in its own way, is a study.

• • •

"Shadows on the Ground" was the last note, and there were many in between. Shadows can teach you a great deal. They will tell you the time of the day, and the season of the year. They take the ugliness of life, and turn it into beauty. There is little that they do not touch with their magic, in the course of a single day. In the half-light of Autumn mornings, the shadows are long and thin. Again in the evenings they fall to marching, beating many a silent measure that the world of man is all too busy to hear.

• • •

That is the trouble with this neurological age. It is always too busy, too busy, and so life passes unsavored and unsung. Only Chief Bright-Eyes and the tribesman stopped to look at the naked tree, seeing it for the first time. I have hopes for the tribesman. He will have seeing eyes if he escapes being washed to death as a remedy against tar and road oil.

ALL EVEN

Two "smart" young things were talking at the top of their voices in an affected jargon in a bus. At last the conductor could stand it no longer. As the bus neared a stopping-place he called out in a high pitched voice —

"Darlings, here's too too sweet Smith Street!"

After that silence reigned.

Contributing to English Churches

TORONTO, Oct. 29 (CP) — Dr. Gordon Sisco, secretary of the general council of the United Church of Canada, announced today that $50,000 raised by the United Church has been sent to Britain to be shared by the Methodist Church in England, the Congregational Union of England and Wales, the Church of Scotland and the Presbyterian Church of England to help parent churches in the war emergency.

It has been decided to recommend to the sub-executive of the general [illegible] as long as the need exists.

Lake Shipwreck

Stan and his companion Jim, who is known to intimates as "Mayor of Six-Mile," decided that a mess of catfish from Shawnigan Lake would form a delectable week-end dish. "What shall we do if we get any trout?" Jim asked on the way to the lake. "Throw them back. It's catfish we are after," Stan replied. The men arrived safely at their destination and were soon on the placid lake in a rowboat. Within an hour they had accumulated enough fish to satisfy the appetites of their families for a day or two. While rowing about thirty feet from shore the men were suddenly thrown to the bottom of the boat as her motion halted with a resounding crash. "What's up?" Stan tremblingly inquired. "We are on a reef," Jim replied. "Throw the catfish over. Perhaps we can lighten her and drift off," Stan remarked. "Throw the fish away? After all my rowing? I'd throw you off first," Jim roared. They each seized an oar and pushed at the rock until their faces were red, but the boat would not budge an inch. "Perhaps there will be a high tide soon and we can float her off." Stan said. "Did you ever hear of a tide on a lake?" Jim snorted. "I've got to get back to town. What are we going to do?" Stan babbled. "Let's shout for help. Perhaps somebody will hear," Jim advised. "Help, help. We're on a rock." Stan roared. "Help, help. Come and help us. Help, help," Jim echoed. A kindly lady on shore dropped an apple pie she was making and ran to her veranda. Within a few minutes she had rowed to the shipwrecked mariners and loaded them into her boat. Their lightened vessel then drifted off the reef undamaged. On the way to the beach she laughed, "You boys better come and have something to eat. Didn't you know the water was only four feet deep between that rock and shore?"—G.B.

Glancing Over Sport

Victoria's hockey squad was bolstered considerably the other day with the arrival in the city of Hugh Sutherland, who played defence with the Portland Buckaroos in the Coast League last season. Sutherland is a big fellow, a good stickhandler and can throw his weight around the ice when called upon . . . The Salmon Arm lacrosse club was certainly no match for the Bays in the opening game for the provincial intermediate title at the Sports Centre. Victoria figured they could win by ten goals at least, but when the difference was nearly thirty at the final whistle that was different. However, the Interior lads may do better in the second game, at least that's what everybody is hoping. I think it would have been better for the Bays to have played a series with Richmond instead . . . There was rumor around the town not long ago that Syl Apps, one of Toronto Maple Leafs' ace snipers, was stationed here in the air force at Patricia Bay. Apps has been working out with the Leafs since the training sessions started and is not in any of the services up to date . . . Not long ago I asked the whereabouts of Eddie Oatman, who played with the Victoria hockey team several years ago. Well, Mrs. Oatman writes from Minneapolis that Eddie is in the best of health. She states for the past six years the former Victorian has been coaching in Yorkton, Prince Albert and Saskatoon. Eddie's seventeen-year-old boy is quite a football star with the West High and when he graduates in June he will enter University of Minnesota.—J.D.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of October 30, 1891)

Meandering Mandeville—The eccentric Irishman whose deeds were chronicled in last week's Colonist, has disappeared mysteriously. On Saturday night he took his boat from where it was anchored at the Gorge and, it is said, sold it to a friend. Then on Sunday morning he went away with the little craft to nobody knows where and yesterday it was seen anchored at the old spot. The gentleman who had bought it rejoiced to have possession once more, and hastened to secure the property, but found two other men before him, each of whom stated that the boat had been bought and paid for by him. Mandeville is the key of the situation, and the key is lost.

Lanterns Dimly Burning—Two of the electric cars were illuminated for some time last night by lanterns in place of the usual electric lights. The illuminating wires were broken. After a little while however, they were "fixed," and the temporary inconvenience was done away with.

To Stay With Us—It being rumored for a day or two that the steamer Olympian was to be transferred from the Sound to the Columbia River, inquiry was made and from an officer of the steamer it was learned that the boat will be taken to Portland to have her boiler re-set and receive other repairs, after which she will return to the Sound trade.

RIPPLE ROCK

Sir,—Some years ago, you will remember Vancouver interests desired to have Ripple Rock removed on the grounds of its being a menace to navigation. At a packed meeting, held at the City Hall in Victoria, the subject of its removal was debated, pro and con, and the then Member of the House at Ottawa was able to prevent its destruction on the solid grounds of its being [illegible] a base for a bridge connecting us with the Mainland. We had the backing of all the service organizations, boards of trade, etc., on the Island, from north to south.

The very pinnacles of rock they propose to blast away are the very key points necessary to support the steel and concrete base for such a bridge. In such a tideway the presence of a structure of steel and concrete in the form of an ellipse with a powerful light (brought by cable from Campbell River, only a few miles away) would take away any hazard the rock is supposed to have. I say "supposed" for the presence of the rock has not been contributory to any seafaring accident; else our Marine Department would long ago have placed a light thereon, or it would have been removed years ago.

Vancouver Island was originally intended to have this proposed connection with the Mainland at the time the railways were constructed from East to West, and it is still a very necessary route to the prosperity of our Island, but with this difference—that today motor transportation is better in line with modern progress.

You will see by the survey map that by leaving the rock intact with its protecting light for shipping, the spans are not excessive (somewhere around 1,100 feet from the western side, which, mark you, is high enough as an approach to the bridge to allow vessels of large size to pass beneath. The other span to Maude Island is a little less, I believe.

You will note also that such a route gives us access to the Mainland highway, around Tatla Lake, and therefore connects us with the Peace River country.

To spend the large sum of money necessary to destruction of a very vital link in our future progress is a most short-sighted policy, especially so when such amount would very likely go well toward building such a protective pier and lights as I have suggested.

As you doubtless know, these pinnacles are in the nature of foundation belts, which are necessary in such structures and you can be very sure such removal would forever prevent our proposed bridge connection with the Mainland, owing to the larger span it would entail. I firmly believe that the people of our Island are just as convinced now, as they were when the late R. T. Williams took up the cudgels on this important issue, some years ago, that we have every right to prevent the wanton destruction of this very important Ripple Rock, which is indeed the key to our future good.

Such a motor road would indeed help us in our defence plans for our Western Coast, for motorized equipment is our most important asset.

THE KIND OF VICTORY

Sir,—"V" has become the by-signal throughout the British nation, kindling hope in thousands of stricken hearts. It simply spells "victory," which no doubt shall be ours.

But "V" could also stand for something else. Our victory on the agonizing war front today would be the most thrilling news of the day. And while it would be the most comforting message of the hour, yet to many it would only be a relief of the high nervous strain of anxiety, and the happiness that our hearts yearn for would still be displaced by the worries and discontent of our personal burdens of everyday life. Here "V" stands for something else. It stands for vice, vice of hatred, which forever gives rise to discontent and which, in its turn, projects itself through the life of the individuals into the life of the nations and a result we have national discontent and, finally, wars.

But here again "V" signifies something different: a "victory," but a final victory which wipes out discontent and promises a lasting victory of peace, not only in our hearts but also in the nations. Here "V," as remarked by a notable American publisher, stands for "victim" and also stands for "vicarious." The two words together breathe the greatest message of hope that ever lit the dark horizon of the world since the time of man began. It was a vicarious victim of man's vices of hatred who went to the Cross of Calvary and brought a new hope of victory into the world, that was lost in the darkness of sin. Today's struggle is a warfare against that ray of hope of victory which has always lit the soul with life of every God-fearing man and woman and child.

Today's victory to which we are all looking anxiously, depends in an unlimited degree upon that victory over death and sin won on the Cross of Calvary two thousands years ago means to you and me and every individual in our British Empire and our allied nations.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 20 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Rumanian Troops Are Rejoicing That Their Part in War Finished

Territorial Ambitions Thought to Be Realized With the Taking of Odessa—Many of Occupying Army Expecting to Return Home

WITH THE RUMANIAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION AT OCHAKOV, ON THE BLACK SEA, Soviet Russia, Oct. 20 (Delayed) (AP)—Rumanian troops stationed in this area believe the Russian war is over as far as they are concerned.

High Rumanian authorities said the main Rumanian advance had ended at the west bank of the Bug River, which runs almost parallel to the 1919 Dniester River frontier fifty to 100 miles deep in the Ukraine.

Their statement was interpreted to mean that Rumanian territorial ambitions have been realized.

Now that Odessa has been taken many of the occupation troops expect to return home.

RESTING IN FORTRESS

Among them are Gen. Mircea Dimitriu and his forces who, after participating in the two-month siege of Odessa, now are resting in this fortress town forty miles to the east.

One Rumanian cavalry corps operating in the Crimea zone, however, is expected to remain in the field. It may be augmented by two more army corps. Otherwise the troops anticipate a discharge shortly.

(Several recent roundabout Balkan reports usually by way of Turkey have mentioned Rumanian unrest and agitation to quit the war. The Rumanians have announced heavy casualties amounting to 111,000, while Russian estimates of Rumanian losses have run as high as 250,000.

(Anywhere from 100,000 to 250,000 men might be included in the three corps remaining in the campaign. Rumania was reported to have mobilized about 1,000,000 men at the start of the offensive.)

EARMARKED BY NAZIS

Bessarabia, annexed by Russia last year, has been earmarked by the Nazis for return to Rumania but the eventual disposition of the remainder of Soviet territory west of the Bug is uncertain, Rumanians said. About 1,000,000 residents of Rumanian extraction of the latter territory will be repatriated, it was said.

The heart of the subterranean fortress, four stories deep which at this point guarded the approach to the shipbuilding base of Nikolaev, was destroyed by the Russians before the Germans arrived August 21.

There were huge coastal artillery batteries of fifteen miles range, big anti-aircraft batteries and underground crew quarters equipped with central heating and electric lighting.

Only about a dozen motors and some thousands of spare parts were found at the speedboat manufacturing plant. Residents said the Red Army sank immense quantities of war materials in the Black Sea but German divers have been able to recover only one motorcycle and a few airplane parts.

REPORTED MOVEMENTS

The ship lane from Odessa to the Crimea passes within twenty-five miles, and observers said the German signal station here had been of great use in reporting the movements of the transports, tankers, sailing vessels and small boats engaged in the evacuation of Odessa.

The island Permaisk (First of May), a mile and a half offshore, was held by the Russians for three weeks after the Germans took Ochakov.

As we entered this town of 12,000 from the north, a pair of basketball goal posts stood out because they were undamaged. Virtually all buildings were skeletons, laid waste by incendiarism and fierce close-quarter fighting.

THOMAS LEAHY NOW FREE MAN

Acquitted on Manslaughter Charge—Trial of Wiffen And Golby Starts

Thomas Leahy, a B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., operator, was acquitted on a charge of manslaughter by an Assize Court jury that deliberated forty-one minutes yesterday afternoon. A street car in charge of Leahy struck George Hickman at Government and Johnson Streets on the morning of September 24 and caused injuries that resulted in his death a few minutes later.

W. H. M. Haldane and Ralph B. Mathews represented Leahy during the two-day trial. J. B. Clearihue, K.C., appeared for the Crown.

In ordering the prisoner discharged, Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson remarked: "It is unfortunate at your time of life you should have had this accident. I congratulate you on your acquittal."

Witnesses heard yesterday included the accused, John A. Waugh, Miss Eva M. Waymark, Kenneth Reid, Constable John D. Blackslock, Clement A. Cornwall and Harry McKinley.

Mr. Leahy testified that he had been proceeding in his street car south along Government Street at 7.45 o'clock on the morning of September 24 and rang the bell twice and commenced to cross Johnson Street with the green traffic light. When two or three yards over the southerly yellow pedestrian line on the north side of Johnson Street the light changed to red, so he kept on in order not to block traffic. While traveling at about ten or twelve miles per hour he saw Mr. Hickman six or seven feet in front of the tram. He rang the bell and immediately applied the emergency brake but was unable to avoid striking the pedestrian.

FRAUD CHARGE

Trial of Harry B. Wiffen and Robert P. Golby on a charge of obtaining money by fraud from Mrs. Evelyn Violet Westinghouse between August 26 and October 3 commenced at the assizes and will be resumed at 10 o'clock this morning.

Patrick J. Sinnott appears for the accused. Members of the jury are James R. Otto (foreman), Fred Mallett, Howard Cannon, William Forrest, Daniel J. Farmer, John W. Rawlinson, John W. Telford, John M. Gibson, William Crowther, Herbert R. Dawe, Alfred Harris and William C. Bowden.

Mrs. Westinghouse described how Wiffen and Golby had previously been to see her husband at their home on Mount Newton Crossroad. She said they called again on August 27 and Golby said he would like to join the R.C.A.F. but would first have to take a course in a flying school near Toronto since he had no high school education.

Golby had told Mrs. Westinghouse that he needed $200 for the journey and expenses and wondered if she could help him. Wiffen explained Golby was his friend and they would like to be together since he could help him when they arrived at Toronto because he had been there before to take a course.

Golby then added that he was very anxious to join the R.C.A.F. as soon as possible and expected to go to England to fly when he completed training. He said his brother had been killed there. Mrs. Westinghouse recalled that she believed the accused and was glad to be of assistance.

EXHIBITS MONEY

She said Golby showed her two $5 bills which he explained another lady had given him to help with the course.

"They wanted to leave for Vancouver that afternoon. I made out a cheque for $200 and handed it to Golby," Mrs. Westinghouse testified. She also identified the cancelled cheque in court.

George Westinghouse Jr., husband of the first witness, described a visit from Wiffen and Golby on August 24 during which the subject of the course for Golby was broached. He told of receiving a letter from Toronto on September 20 signed by Golby and other material on October 3 which he handed to his lawyer, Harry J. Davis.

DID YOU ever take a good look at a carrot?

Carrots usually come in bunches

In most bunches of carrots some are tall, some short, some stout, some scrawny. You have to take what's in the bunch — good and bad

And carrot bunches in one store are big — in another store not so big How can you tell what's good value that way?

So Safeway doesn't bunch carrots Instead, you choose from a binful of crisp, clean carrots — with the heavy, leafy tops cut off.

You pick out the size and shape and number of carrots you want And you pay for just what you get by the pound

That's the way you now buy bananas, and tomatoes and grapes Wouldn't it be silly to buy grapes by the bunch?

Today at Safeway, on every kind of fruit and vegetable we carry, you now get all the advantages of free selection and pricing by weight

Many prominant women tell us they would like every store in town to price all fruits and vegetables by weight. Than you could get just the amount you want just the sizes you like, and full value for your money every time. Whatever you trade, why don't you ask your store man about it?

New Varieties of Chrysanthemum To Be Displayed

Like every other flower show this season the Empress Hotel chrysanthemum tea is ahead of itself by a couple of weeks. Scheduled for Saturday afternoon it promises to be better than ever with a number of new specimens on show, a good musical programme and a [illegible] of reservations [illegible] in late.

Among the new varieties the Empress Hotel head gardener, Fred Saunders, is showing are Lady Knott, a shaggy pinkish mauve; Shirley Mammott, which has the consistency and color of milk; and Mrs. Bickerstaff Wilson, a deep strawberry and silver flower; Grace Curling, a most unusual lime color, and Mrs. P. Sudbury, purple and silver.

The musical programme Mr. William Tickle has arranged is as follows: March of the Toy [illegible] (Herbert); Gypsy Love [illegible]; Chinese Temple Garden (Ketelbey); Valse Des Fleurs (Tschaikowsky); "Rose of Algiers" (Herbert); "Second Serenade" (Heykens); London Suite (Coates); "Grasshoppers' Dance" (Bucalossi) and "Norwegian Suite" (Schütte).

As usual the chrysanthemum tea will be held in the bay and tea rooms. So immediately popular did this Empress occasion prove, it outgrew the rotunda where it started some years ago and continues in popularity.

Many Hundreds Applaud War Budget Fashion Show

Mrs. W. C. Woodward Attends Club Competition—Lady Burdon Opens Show—Miss M. MacKenzie Wins Grand Aggregate

Smartness was a great asset to men and women and attention to small details was the sign of a meticulous person, said Lady Burdon, O.B.E., in opening the wartime budget fashion show last night at the Crystal Garden. The show [illegible] Soroptimist Club was under the distinguished patronage of Mrs. W. C. Woodward, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor, who attended the show accompanied by Miss Ruth McLean and Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn.

Proceeds of the fashion show and sale of home cooking will go to the club's war charities fund, while at the same time the entrants in the show had the opportunity of gaining the professional advice of Victor Mott on how to dress well on a wartime budget and how business girls could look smart at their work.

Women in England were finding it smart and profitable to have their husbands' discarded suits turned and tailored into a two-piece costume for themselves, Lady Burdon told the audience, and in this way saved using their precious clothing coupons.

THREE CLASSES

The show was divided into three classes, each governed by a maximum amount to be spent on the costume. For an office dress $15 was the limit, and points were given [illegible] varied changes of accessories and suitability for business wear. Miss Violet Hannigan was awarded first prize for her smart black dress with white collar. Miss Marjorie Bird was second, wearing a blue-green fitted wool dress, and Miss MacKinnon won third place for her brown wool crepe dress which was shown with different accessories.

Street costumes comprising three-piece suits, tailored dresses with jackets and smartly-tailored coats were not to exceed $45 in price, this limit including the cost of hat, shoes, handbag and gloves. Mrs. W. Findlay in a fitted black coat, black felt [illegible] hat and white scarf [illegible] gloves [illegible] the unanimous decision of the judges and audience. Second was Miss Lenora Crump, in a beige camel's hair overcoat with tartan [illegible] and matching tartan skirt with a beige twin sweater set, red beret and red handbag. Mrs. Mary Wright, in a checked green and white jacket, green skirt and tailored green hat, won third in this class.

EVENING DRESS

[illegible] in a sand-colored taffeta frock, the full skirt dotted with large brown velvet flowers, matching the short velvet jacket, was second in this section, her costume also winning the grand aggregate prize. Mrs. Marjorie Mitchell won third [illegible] gracious appearance, in a brocaded crepe dress of a dull cherry red, cut on flowing lines, the skirt falling into a tiny train.

[illegible] more than [illegible] actual appearance and [illegible] Miss Frances Dutton in a long-sleeved gown of black chiffon [illegible] combined all the requirements. The dresses were not to exceed $20 and were to be suitable for formal dinner, informal [illegible] and all fairly formal occasion. Miss Marguerita MacKenzie

USEFUL COSTUME

Special mention was made of the ultra utility costume, a blue georgette evening dress featuring a short jacket buttoned down the front which the wearer, Miss Violet Mesher, patiently removed, showing the long-sleeved blouse, suitable for dinner wear. Mr. Fred McGregor came to the wearer's assistance in removing her blouse, while the audience was convulsed with laughter. Their combined efforts were crowned with success and, after a struggle, there emerged a self-possessed lady in a formal decollete evening gown. The price of this astonishing creation was stated by the judges to be only $10. A number of smart costumes were shown from Jean Burns Ltd., when the mannequins were Misses Lorna Hublon, Violet Hannigan and Ann Trump.

STUDY OF DRESS

Mr. Victor Mott, well-known local fashion designer, spoke during the intermission, demonstrating how best to dress to express one's personality. His advice to his audience was "dress to suit your type and not the type you would like to be." He was assisted in the practical demonstration of his suggestions by several models wearing first the [illegible] to their types and later the costumes which Mr. Mott found the most suitable.

The judges of the show were Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn, Mr. Mott and Mr. C. W. Page. In announcing the prize winner, Mr. Fairbairn complimented the entrants on their costumes and the Soroptimist Club on the originality of the endeavor.

PRESENTS PRIZES

Lady Burdon presented the prizes, which were scrip on local stores, and each was accompanied by an attractive corsage bouquet, the gift of Brown Bros. Mrs. B. M. Clarke, president of the club, thanked Lady Burdon for her interest, presenting her with a corsage bouquet of gardenias. She also expressed the thanks of the club to Mrs. Woodward for her gracious presence, presenting her with a corsage bouquet.

Mr. Fred McGregor was an able and amusing master of ceremonies and Mrs. Beatrice Stone gave her services as pianist during the evening.

COMMITTEE

General convener of the show was Mrs. B. M. Clarke, publicity Miss Doris Holmes, stage Mrs. Florence Mutrie, Misses Doris and Marjorie Holmes, Mrs. Sarah McMa[illegible], Miss Dora Atkins, Mr. Fred Robertson and David Spencer's antique department lent the furniture for the stage. What Today Means

"SCORPIO"

If October 30 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until noon, from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m., from 6 to 8 p.m., and from 10 p.m. until midnight.

You will be judged by your facial expressions on October 30 so let your countenance portray tranquillity of mind and self-possession. Manifestations of anger will accomplish more harm than good and will be a barrier to harmonious conditions. October 30 will be a poor day for anyone to extol their own virtues or indicate that they have an exaggerated opinion of their own worth. Suppress any feeling of exultation that you experience over another's misfortune, for the reaction of those witnessing it probably will be very unfavorable and you may lose their esteem. Bear in mind that time frittered away cannot be regained regardless of efforts to offset it by a burst of speed. Married and engaged couples and those who are now in the advanced stages of courtship may find it good judgment to remember that you can never plan the future by the past and should to avoid mistakes in their planning take existing conditions into consideration.

If a woman and October 30 is your birthday, high ideals and a spiritual nature will aid greatly in living a worth-while life. Concern yourself only with doing your own work well and give no thought to how others are doing theirs and you will save yourself a needless amount of worry. Avoid taking shortcuts to save time and you are likely to progress much more satisfactorily. As a demonstrator, saleslady, office manager, business operator, teacher or in some artistic endeavor, you should be most successful. Play the matrimonial game the way it should be played and you should come out of it a winner.

The child born on October 30 is apt to develop into a very diligent and studious youngster who will be ready to grasp opportunities for advancement whenever they come within his reach. A happy and successful future can be expected for this youngster.

If a man and October 30 is your natal day, you should never put all your eggs in one basket for, apparently, it will be diversified investments that will bring prosperity to you. Consistently good work as a scientist, professional man, salesman, journalist, writer, educator, clergyman, financier, promoter, artist, musician, singer or in some activity requiring histrionic ability should place you in an enviable financial position with a reputation of which you can well be proud.

NEVER AGAIN

Mother wanted to spend Saturday in town and father, an accountant, reluctantly agreed to give up his golf and spend the afternoon with the children. On the return of mother the father handed her the following report of the afternoon:

Dried tears 9 times. Tied shoes [illegible] times. Toy balloons purchased 3 per child. Average life of a balloon 12 seconds. Cautioned children not to cross street—21 times. Children crossed street 21 times. Number of Saturdays I will do this again—0."

BURNED UP

Browne was phoning his wife from the office. "Hullo, dear," he said. "I'm very sorry, but I won't be home till very late tonight. I'm fire-watching."

"Oh you are, are you," snapped his wife. "And who is the flame?"

BAND GIVEN TO TRUSTEES

School Board Acquires Kinsmen Boys' Band Through Generosity of Club

The Kinsmen Club has presented its band to the Victoria Board of School Trustees, enabling students to receive instruction in the playing of band instruments, Trustee P. G. Mulliner, chairman of the board [illegible]

In acknowledging the Kinsmen Club's generous gift, Mr. Mulliner said: "The Board of School Trustees is very appreciative of this action of the Kinsmen. Music now takes a prominent place in the curriculum and the ability to play a band instrument, aside from the educational value of the learning, involves provides the individual with a life-time hobby."

The board has set up a band committee of city school principals under George H. Green, principal of Quadra School and an accomplished cornetist. He will be assisted by W. H. Morey, principal of Margaret Jenkins School; H. L. Smith, principal of Victoria High School, and A. T. Hunkin, principal of Central Junior High School.

GROUPS TO BE FORMED

The committee will formulate policies affecting the band and D. G. Macdonald of Central Junior High School will act as band manager. Boys and girls who wish to learn band instruments will have an opportunity to apply for membership in a preparatory band group which will probably meet Saturday mornings.

Students having some knowledge of band instruments and who now attend the Junior and Senior High Schools, will receive instruction in club periods, or before the regular school session begins.

Al Prescott, who has also been conductor of the Victoria High School Orchestra, will continue as band conductor. The Victoria Schools Band, the senior organization as it will be known, will meet one night per week. Members of the former Kinsmen Boys Band will be given an opportunity to continue in the new organization. As members of the preparatory or junior-senior high school groups become proficient they will be promoted to the senior organization, the Victoria Schools Band.

The larger band instruments form a part of the Kinsmen Club's gift to the school board, but it is expected that those parents who wish their children to learn the smaller instruments will be required to buy them. Before an instrument is purchased, however, it is suggested that parents consult Mr. Macdonald and Mr. Prescott.

ASK FOR INSTRUMENTS

It is hoped that those who are interested in band work, and [illegible] own instruments for which they have no further use will give or loan them to the school board to assist the new undertaking.

The band now acquired by the Victoria School Board was taken over by the Kinsmen Club from the then Rowles Boys' Band in April 1939. The club obtained practice rooms at a nominal rental, and in April 1940 the band, with nearly forty members, made its first public appearance and a profit of $162 under Mr. Prescott's leadership.

Through various projects the Kinsmen Club raised enough money to buy thirty-five uniforms for the young bandsmen. These outfits cost nearly $1,200. Highlight of last Summer's activity was the band's performance at a Red Cross garden party at Government House, where the then Lieutenant-Governor, E. W. Hamber, presented colors to the organization.

Last Summer the Victoria Kinsmen Boys' Band appeared in the motorcycle circus concerts for the Rotary International convention and several patriotic street parades. By early 1941, the Kinsmen Club had paid all the band's debts. Though the club's cash investment in this venture was approximately $3,000, the members feel that the money has been more than well spent and that their confidence in the Kinsmen Boys' Band has been justified.

SAYS JAPANESE ARE LOYALISTS

Editor Declares Legislation Would Be Welcomed to Force Allegiance Oath

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP).—The American-born editor of a Los Angeles Japanese newspaper declared today there is "no question" about the loyalty of Japanese-Americans in the event of a war with Japan but advocated legislation to require them to take an oath renouncing allegiance to any foreign power.

Togo Tanaka, editor of The Los Angeles Japanese Daily News, told the House of Representatives Immigration Committee that Japanese-Americans favored the legislation because it would help clarify their status in the United States, which they regard as their homeland.

He supported a bill which would require persons of dual citizenship to renounce allegiance to foreign powers and provide for deportation of those who refused. The legislation is sought by the War Department.

WANTS HOUSE CLEANING

"We are anxious to see this bill enacted," Tanaka declared. "We are more anxious to get rid of the bad apples among our people than you are because we are the ones who suffer because of their activities."

Isidor Hershfield, counsel for the Hebrew Legal Aid Society, protested the bill would discriminate against the person of dual citizenship who had been a good American citizen all his life.

Kilsoo K. Haan, representative of the Sino-Korean Peoples' League, told the committee the Japanese Government recently had called upon the heads of Japanese families in the United States and Hawaii to register with the Tokio authorities sons of military age.

OBJECTORS ARE ON ROAD JOBS

Ottawa Officials Say Men Working Willingly on Various Projects

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 (CP).—More than 900 men who refused to bear arms for Canada because of conscientious objections have worked willingly in parks and road-building during the Summer and Autumn, National War Services and Mines and Resources officials said tonight.

The majority of objectors in the age classes covered by the National Resources Mobilization Act and therefore liable to four months' compulsory training were put to work in national parks in the West. Others have been engaged in road [illegible] in Northern Ontario.

The Government ruling was that any physically fit who had conscientious objections to bearing arms would be required to perform physical labor for four months.

CONSERVATION WORK

The decision was made that the [illegible] employed in the parks [illegible] with the normal [illegible] for which men are [illegible] paid [illegible] official [illegible] conservation work which would save money [illegible] and protect the Canadian investment in parkland [illegible]

At Prince Albert National Park [illegible] 19.6 miles of secondary road have been built and other improvement work undertaken by 211 men. [illegible] have been improved at Lake Louise, roads widened and resurfaced in the Cascade Valley, pasturage fenced and the water system for the buffalo park improved in the work of 1[illegible]5 men in Banff National Park.

PARKING GROUNDS

Along the scenic highway between Banff and Jasper National Parks, 158 men working from Jasper have been engaged in preparing shelters and parking grounds at points where the view is particularly good, such work at three locations involving the clearing of ten acres of ground and the erection of several buildings.

Of the Doukhobors engaged in construction of the Lac la Ronge Road some are men who refused to report for work when called and were given prison sentences. Expressing a readiness to perform civilian duties, they were released on ticket-of-leave and now work as willingly as the others.

"All our reports indicate that the men, of whom Mennonites are in the majority, have worked well," officials said. "They erected their own camp accommodation and have received good treatment."

THE REVERSE

An old gentleman saw a group of small boys in an English park and asked one of them what game they were going to play.

"Cricket," said the youngster. "We're going to play a game of England versus the West Indies."

"Are some of you going to black your faces, then?" asked the old gentleman.

"Oh, no!" said the youngster very seriously, "some of us are going to wash them."

During the first days of bombing in London, the legion went to work [illegible] bomb victims through its canteen organization. The Auxiliary Fire Service and other defence services came to depend on the legion's canteens.

The legion has its own transport organization, has placed drivers at the disposal of the various ministries, the Home Guard, hospital and other charitable organizations.

WITHOUT BLEACHING — THAT'S WHY IT'S SAFE FOR COLORS, TOO!

PEG—Bless me, Ruth! My apron's a sight compared with yours. How did you get it so white?

Canadian Pacific Locomotive Engineers Complete Long Periods of Service

FRED W. MACKENBOT

CRANBROOK, Oct 29 — Two veteran Canadian Pacific locomotive engineers, both stationed in Cranbrook and both born sixty-five years ago not far from each other in Ontario, are retiring on pension at the end of October.

In the case of Fred W. Mackenrot, who started at North Bend as an engine wiper on April 21, 1893, he is completing nearly forty-nine years of service with the C.P.R. in British Columbia. The last twenty-five years of this period has been in passenger service. For several years he has ranked as the senior passenger engineer of the British Columbia district.

His running mate, George A. Hennessy, who started as wiper at Nelson in 1904, lacks Mr. Mackenrot's long service, but also has been piloting engines in various parts of British Columbia for three decades.

Mr. Mackenrot, born at Toronto, went to school at Port Arthur, Ont., and came with his parents to Vancouver in 1889, where he worked for the pioneer Vancouver real estate firm of John Devine & Son. Becoming an engine wiper at North Bend in 1893, he was an engineer by 1900 when he was twenty-four years old. He spent eight years on the old Field hill prior to the construction of the Spiral Tunnels and was around Vancouver roundhouses in early times when the late Grant Hall, who died as senior vice-president of the road, was general foreman. The veteran engineer plans to remain in Cranbrook at least for the Winter with Mrs. Mackenrot. Two of his girls, Vivian and Doris, are in California, and the third daughter, Nannie, is in Denmark.

JOINED IN 1904

George A. Hennessy, born at Thamesford, Ont., was in the wholesale shoe business at London, Ont., New York, and Portland, Ore., until he joined the C.P.R. at Nelson in 1904. Later he was at Revelstoke, where he was chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers grievance committee in 1913 and 1914, and for twelve years has been secretary-treasurer of Division 563 of the brotherhood at Cranbrook.

Neither veteran intends to remain idle despite their superannuation. Mr. Mackenrot is a keen gardener and curler, and spends additional hours in a basement workshop, where he fashions many useful things, while Mr. Hennessy takes a keen interest in community affairs and brotherhood activities.

Admiral of Demobilized Fleet at Alexandria States Agreement With Britain Will Be Observed

By LARRY ALLEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALEXANDRIA, Oct 29 (AP) — Vice-Admiral Rene Emil Godfroy, commanding the demobilized French war fleet anchored in this harbor, said today he hoped the fleet would "eventually be left free to return to France or somewhere in the French Empire."

Interviewed aboard his flagship, the 10,000-ton cruiser Duquesne, the admiral said the entire fleet would continue to observe the conditions of the agreement with Britain under which the warships may not leave the Alexandria Harbor and the British forces may make no move to take over the fleet by force.

"All we can do is wait and see," he said.

Asked what might happen should Germany ever try to force the Vichy Government to turn over French warships, the admiral replied:

"No French man-of-war has ever been loaned to Germany."

The French squadron here is composed of the 22,189-ton battleship Lorraine, the cruisers Duquesne, Tourville, Suffren and Duguay-Trouin, the destroyers Le Fortune, Basque and Forbin, and the submarine Protee.

They are maintained by skeleton crews. About 4,000 officers and men have been sent back to France since the ships were demobilized.

Underwriter and Insurance Agents Survey Snohomish

To replace the disabled tugboat Snohomish, Harold B. Elworthy, manager of the Island Tug & Barge Company, yesterday announced that the company had chartered the Bellingham-registered tug Iroquois. About the same tonnage as the Snohomish, the Iroquois will handle Island Tug & Barge Company's towing contract while the Snohomish is being repaired.

Yesterday marine surveyors and insurance adjusters surveyed the Snohomish on the ways at Yarrows' Esquimalt plant. Just how long the tugboat will be out of commission was not determined.

Officials looking over the Snohomish yesterday included F. E. Clarke of the San Francisco Board of Underwriters, Robert Rennie and Frank Boomer, of Lloyd's, and C. A. Bird, average adjuster for Boyd, Phillips & Company, Limited, all of Vancouver.

Discussions Take Place Regarding Clipper Service

CANBERRA, Oct 29 (AAP) — Discussions concerning extension of the American Clipper service from New Zealand to Australia were held today by Finance Minister Nash of New Zealand and Air Minister A. S. Drakeford of Australia. The discussions likely will be followed later with conversations between the British, United States, New Zealand and Australian Governments.

This will be essential before a final agreement can be reached. The important element in the joint approach by the Australian and New Zealand Governments to extend the Clipper service is the desire to preserve the reciprocal rights for the British Empire to establish a British trans-Pacific air service and thus complete after the war a round-the-world chain of an "all red" air service.

The outstanding advantage which would follow the extension of the Clipper service would be the savings of at least a day in the transportation of mail and passengers between the United States and Australia.

Damaged Free French Submarine Reaches Port After Sinking Enemy Ship

A BRITISH PORT, Oct 29 (CP) — The crew of a Free French submarine, damaged by a depth charge, brought their craft to a British port with a story of how they torpedoed a 4,000-ton enemy ship in a convoy.

Members of the crew said the submarine, creeping through enemy waters, spied the convoy hugging shore to avoid detection. The sub stalked the convoy until it was in position to attack. Then two torpedoes were fired at the largest ship.

The men felt terrific explosions as their submarine dived and knew the torpedoes had reached their mark. Engines were stopped and the submarine lay motionless under water.

Soon there was a single sharp blast from a depth charge. The Frenchmen waited for other explosions, but there was none. When they decided to come to the surface again some time after they discovered the submarine was unable to dive again.

It limped slowly for two days while the crew expected to be sighted and attacked by the enemy at any moment. A British ship came into sight the third day and escorted it to port.

BAY City, Mich., Oct 29 (AP) — A strike in the Defoe Boat and Motor Works halted work today on eight submarine chasers and mine sweepers being constructed for the United States Navy under a $20,000,000 defence contract.

TIME TO SEND PARCELS NEAR

Mail for Prisoners of War Is Limited to Once Every Three Months

[illegible] for mailing Christmas parcels to prisoners of war in enemy territory and the Postoffice yesterday reminded Canadians that parcels for prisoners of war may be sent only once in three months.

"Only people designated as 'next of kin' in the army records are allowed to send parcels directly through the postoffice," an official said.

"These parcels may be sent only once in three months. They must not weigh more than eleven pounds, and must be carefully packed so the work of examining authorities is facilitated. Senders must follow regulations to the letter to be sure their parcels arrive."

Postoffice officials explained that "every Canadian, British Dominion or Colonial prisoner of war in enemy territory now is receiving a ten-pound parcel of food a week from the Red Cross organization.

"These parcels go forward automatically from the Red Cross and families may feel assured that the prisoners are receiving these food parcels," it was stated.

In parcels sent out personally, a list in duplicate of the contents of the parcel should be included and should also bear the name and address of the prisoner and the name and address of the sender. These forms may be obtained by writing to the chief postal censor, Ottawa.

Miss O'Hara, while limited at present to organizing tours to Western Hemisphere localities, stated while here that travel business in the United States continues to be exceptionally good.

British Cruiser Puts Heavy Nazi Craft to Flight

TORONTO, Oct 29 (CP) — A six-hour battle between the 5,450-ton British cruiser Bonaventure and the Nazi heavy cruiser Admiral Hipper last Christmas Day was described to Ross Sheppard of Toronto in a letter received from his son, Sub-Lieut. Bill Sheppard.

Bill wrote that the battle took place in the Bay of Biscay and that the Germans ran for home after the Hipper's superstructure had been riddled badly.

With its guns spitting fire, the little Bonaventure pursued the cruiser until it was lost in the mist, young Sheppard wrote.

GERMAN SHIP FLIES THE JAPANESE FLAG

SHANGHAI, Oct 29 (AP) — British naval sources said today that the German 1,230-ton ship Quito, with a German crew but flying the Japanese Arms Transport Service flag, had arrived here from Japan.

Unconfirmed reports said the ship was loading Diesel oil, leading to speculation that despite her small size she was being prepared as a supply ship for a German raider in the Pacific.

SKIPPER LOSES ELECTION RACE

Angus Walters, of Bluenose Fame, Is Defeated in Nova Scotia Voting

LUNENBURG N.S., Oct. 29 (CP)—Skipper Angus Walters, who found the political weather stormier than anything he'd ever encountered at the helm of the racing schooner Bluenose, wasn't sure tonight whether he'd stick to the stormier landsmen's game.

The salty Angus, who never met defeat when he and Bluenose campaigned together for the International Racing Fishermen's championship, found out yesterday what it feels like to cross the line in an opponent's wake. Running as a Conservative in the Provincial general election, Captain Walters wound up behind three other candidates for the two seats in Lunenburg. But Angus, a political greenhorn making his first try for office, managed to pile up the respectable total of 4,340 votes.

"I'm not discouraged," Captain Walters said tonight. "But I don't know about keeping at it."

A DIFFERENT TUNE

"Well, when does the fun start?" said the prisoner after he had spent a day in jail.

"What fun?" asked the warden. "There's no fun here."

"Well, I'm blowed!" gasped the prisoner. "And the judge distinctly told me that I was coming here for the time of my life."

BROADCASTS VIVID STORY OF THE SEA

he said. "Full oil drums, empty oil drums, and the sea was like green glass, with beautiful flecks of phosphorus underneath.

"And we went over the side and swam, and, there were sharks, and we knew there were sharks.

CRAWLED ONTO RAFT

"In a crazy hysteria of fear, we crawled onto the raft. I remember them so well as they came on. There was Mac, wounded, and McDavis, the second engineer. The junior sparks was there. The two little midshipmen were there. I was there, the extra fourth mate and the skipper and the chief engineer.

"Well, we huddled there together on that raft, and there were sharks and sharks—'Let go the painter'—she was tied to the boat, she was tied and the boat was going down. We could see her going down. And suddenly someone found a knife and slashed and hacked away at the painter, and the raft floated free.

"And we lay there on the raft wounded—horribly wounded. And suddenly, without any cause or reason whatsoever, the raft overturned.

"Just imagine to sit and feel the raft slipping from underneath you, and the water getting closer round you, and then suddenly, the raft had overturned

ALL GOT BACK

"But we got back. The skipper got back, and the chief engineer, and they grabbed hold of poor old Mac by the scruff of the neck and dragged him on board. And they dragged me on board.

"I was very, very fortunate. I was on the raft and I had been, let us say, so seriously wounded that I was losing consciousness. But I remember two or three things that happened to me, and I don't think I'll ever forget them.

"The warmth and the security, and the love and tenderness with which one man—I'll never know who it was—kept his arm about me the whole time to prevent me from slipping off.

"I remember McDavis, the second engineer, as he sat on the far end of the raft, with that little oar about three feet long, smacking away to scare the sharks.

"I remember the sharks," blue, green and gray, as they swept up from the depths of the ocean to make huge vicious snaps at my legs. I remember the ravening, grasping sound, as they scraped along the bottom of the raft. But they didn't get us. And all that night, and all that day, and all the next night.

SAVED THEIR LIVES

"Three little oil drums had been pierced, and then the smoke on the horizon. And the little midshipmen, our first-trip midshipmen, stood up on that raft and balanced himself on ten by eight foot of drifting timber and put his coat through an oar and waved it, and saved our lives.

"And I lay there on the raft as the Spanish tramp steamer came alongside and they had lowered an enormous great fish basket to get us in. And I saw the basket coming closer and closer, and I lifted myself up and balanced on one leg and made a wild grab at the basket.

"Somebody suddenly seized me by the seat of my trousers and lifted me inside. But just as I left the raft a horrible burning, stinging pain went through my left foot, my remaining left foot, and it wasn't out my first name, because he got until later that I found out what he was. The sea had made a last bite at me. I had been stung by a Jellyfish.

CRUISER ON HORIZON

"I was three and a half days without any medical attention, and, as I lay in my bunk in the little hospital of this Spanish tramp a man came in and said to me: 'There's an armed merchant cruiser on the horizon.' And I remember I sort of passed out after he said that because as I came to, instead of finding my little cabin so calm and so bare it was full of men, full of sailors, and I remember that I felt as though a man were getting binoculars in front of my eyes.

"One moment everything would be large and the next moment they would recede to tiny pin points. I was getting delirious, I suppose, and as I lay there utterly helpless, fearing at them, suddenly they seemed to part, and a man pushed his way to the front, and he wore the red and gold epaulettes of a surgeon of the Royal Navy.

"DON'T WORRY, FRANK"

"And he leaned forward and I'll never forget him. He had even found my friends. I missed the men who had helped me. I lay there on the deck of that ship and cried, not from grief but from happiness and from safety."

frugal living and curtailed personal and household expenditure.

MORE INDIRECT TAXATION

The Labor Government followed Labor's normal preference for increasing indirect rather than direct taxation. This beer excise tax is raised threepence on the gallon, and the excise on tobacco, matches and soft drinks rules is also increased. There is also a long list of luxury and semi-luxury articles on which the sales tax is increased, in most cases doubled.

The Treasurer announced that trading banks would be licensed by regulations which would provide that they must deposit with the Commonwealth Bank their excess investible funds on a basis to be fixed by the Government.

Small Fleet Guards Dutch East Indies But Very Powerful

Fast Ships of Offensive Nature Used in Conjunction With Vessels for Defensive Operations—Plenty of Petroleum for Motor Fuel

By ROYAL ARCH GUNNISON
(North American Newspaper Alliance)

SURABAYA, Java, Oct. 29.—The Dutch here in the Netherlands East Indies have prepared a navy of small, fast ships of an offensive nature and a fair-sized auxiliary fleet of mine layers for defensive work in addition to their standard fleet operating from this home base.

This is a fleet with a "sting." It is little publicized, but anyone who has seen it in operation, and I am one of the few who has, knows its striking power far exceeds the size of the ships.

All of these new small ships have been and are being constructed here in the Indies. There are four classes at present, none of which travels under twenty miles an hour. The fastest carry two torpedo tubes, soon will carry four. These "TM" mosquito boats with a very high speed also have a longer cruising range than either British or American speedsters. This added range gives these and the other slightly larger and heavily-armed craft an independent attack ability which enables them to be away from base longer than is usual for such craft.

MAKE OWN PLANS

The Dutch, realizing it would be impossible to obtain any destroyers, cruisers or battleships from the United States or Britain, made their own plans. They have adapted these plans to craft designed best to protect the Indies Archipelago. This series of thousands of islands, if laid across the map of the United States would stretch considerably over the Atlantic and Pacific coastlines of the United States.

There is plenty of petroleum for motor fuel in the Indies. And now there is a rapidly enlarging supply of ammunition arriving daily from the United States. With ammunition and fuel to be stored at vantage points among the many islands, this "drag-net" fleet can police the archipelago from its outside bases, just as American squad cars and motorcycles operate from precinct stations in large American cities.

Add to these fast, small craft a faster-than-usual fleet of mine-layers, with a larger-than-usual mine-carrying capacity, and you begin to get the idea. There are only a few routes by which an invading fleet can approach the vital spots of the Indies. Mine-layers are operating in these sea lanes daily. Seaplanes are constantly on the alert protecting these mine-layers in daily reconnaissance.

These seaplanes, aboard which I have been on operational flights, also operate from half a hundred outside island bases. They leave their main operations base here at Surabaya and are gone on a patrol period of two months. They receive all minor repairs at their outside bases.

USE MODERN PLANES

Until recently most of this patrol has been done by Fokker and old Dornier tri-motored ships. But today modern American PBY "Catalinas" are roaring out across the archipelago. Already the Dutch have received more PBY's in six weeks than the Australians and British have received since the first one was ferried out in January. The Indies have a second order that will go into effect when the first is completed before the end of the year.

Of course, there's method in this. These PBY's and their repair bases are now stretched from Singapore to Sydney, Australia, and United States Navy planes can now make such a patrol circle or work on an operations basis along the route from Hawaii to Australia, to the Indies, to Singapore, to Manila and back to Hawaii with every facility at hand. While the Dutch can't handle any battleships as yet in their repair shops and drydocks, they are capable of handling heavy cruisers and anything on down the list through submarines to mosquito boats.

This Dutch base at Surabaya is nothing new. It has been an operations base since the middle 1800's for Dutch naval vessels. In this respect it has it all over Singapore. Until the last two years British policy has always been to overhaul their warships in England. All English ships have had to go "home" for general repairs. But the Dutch, being practical people, said "The Indies are a part of the empire, not a colony. We will establish a base out there for repair. We may need it some day." And they have.

NEED LARGE VESSELS

The Dutch have done the best job possible for themselves. They realize they'll need the aid of large vessels. They know that without the United States fleet neither they nor the British can withstand the [illegible] of the Japanese fleet. But this small Dutch fleet would give an invading Japanese force enough of the "business" to enable the American fleet to get here in time to save the Indies—if the United States fleet plans to come.

There is but one reason the Japanese did not come down here between May 10, 1940 (date Holland was invaded) and midsummer this year. And that is seen here as the "American fleet." Had the Japanese come within that period, their job while difficult, might not have been unsuccessful. But today, the rapidly increasing home-made speed navy plus United States fighter and bomber aircraft, American munitions and raw material for making bombs, mines and bullets all combine to put a "too late" sign on any future Japanese attack.

Somebody has figured from war statistics it is costing the warring countries $50,000 to kill a man.

APPOINTED TO POST IN EAST

Group Captain C. R. Slemon Becomes Director of Air Operations

Continuing the policy of placing experienced officers in more respon- [illegible] Royal Canadian Air Force expansion, Group Captain C. R. Slemon, second in command of the Western Air Command, has been posted to Ottawa as director of air operations, it was announced here yesterday.

This is the second move in the past ten days affecting ranking officers of the West Coast Command. Air Commodore A. E. Godfrey, air officer commanding Western Air Command, was recently notified of his appointment to Ottawa as deputy inspector-general of the R.C.A.F.

Long recognized as one of the organizers of Pacific Coast air defences, Group Captain Slemon came to British Columbia in March, 1939, as senior air staff officer directly from the Royal Air Force Air Staff College, Andover, England.

FIRST TO FLY SOLO

He was the first of postwar trained officers to fly solo in Canada, when the R.C.A.F. turned to the task of turning out its own [illegible] Canadian Air Force in Winnipeg in 1923, he served with the Officers' Training Corps at the University of Manitoba for three years. Shortly after taking a commission, the young officer trained as a seaplane pilot at the Vancouver air station.

When the R.C.A.F. answered the Government's call for pilots to carry out photographic surveys and ferry work in the Western Arctic and the Northwest Territories, Pilot Officer Slemon was sent into the Northern wastes.

In the ensuing years he found time to continue his university studies, graduating in 1928.

RAPID PROMOTION

Seven years of survey work in the Barrens provided wide practical experience for the Canadian flyer. The service value of this was increased when Flying Officer Slemon was selected to attend a navigation course at Calshot, England, in 1929. On completion of this he was sent to Camp Borden as senior navigation officer. After several years he [illegible] ters, Ottawa, as staff officer in the operations branch.

Promotion was rapid for the younger men after war broke out in 1939. Squadron Leader Slemon was soon made wing commander and within a few months another advancement entitled him to the eight gold oak leaves of group captain rank.

He was officer commanding Western Air Command for four months in the Spring of 1941 when Air Commodore Godfrey proceeded to take over the Eastern Air Command. Since the return of the air commodore in August, Group Captain Slemon has been second in command on the Pacific Coast.

He was married in 1935 in Bowmanville, Ont. At present, Mrs. Slemon and their two children are visiting in Eastern Canada.

WHICH ONE

As the train pulled up at the wayside station the guard noticed [illegible] ment labelled No Smoking.

Opening the door, he eyed the six guilty-looking passengers seated inside.

"Gentlemen," he remarked, "there are two company rules on this line which are repeatedly broken. First, that smoking is forbidden in carriages not set aside for that purpose. Second, that the company's servants may not accept bribes. You have already broken one of these rules."

SPECIFIC TRADES ENLISTMENT ENDS

Change in Regulations Provides Men Will Join R.C.A.F. as Standard Tradesmen

A recent change in recruiting regulations provides that men will no longer be enlisted in specific air force trades. Future enlistments will be described as "standard [illegible]"

Men enlisted in this classification will be allowed to express a preference for one of the air force trades, and on arrival at the manning depot they will be trade tested and remustered for training in the trade for which they are best suited.

Where the trade test board finds a man fully skilled, it may remuster him direct as a skilled tradesman without further training.

While every effort will be made to place men in the trade of their choice, this is not guaranteed, recruiting officials explain. Recruits must abide by the decision of the board. It is felt that this system is much fairer to recruits than that formerly in use, and it is expected that the possibility of disappointment after enlistment will be reduced.

Men with exceptional trade qualifications may still be enlisted direct to their own trades.

MUST HAVE 'UMP

An elderly man approached one [illegible] menagerie.

"Can you tell me what the bump on the camel's back is for?" he asked politely.

"Well, it's pretty useful, sir. The old camel wouldn't be much use without it, you know."

"But why not?"

"Why not!" exclaimed the keeper, in surprise. "Well, you don't suppose people would pay sixpense to see 'im if 'e 'adn't got an 'ump?"

Little Stories for Bedtime

Jimmy Skunk Wins Back His Good Name

By THORNTON [illegible]

Then he held out his hand

Jimmy Skunk sat at the top of the Crooked Little Path and watched Old Mother West Wind gather her Merry Little Breezes into the big bag in which she would carry them to her home behind the Purple Hills. As he watched, Jimmy would sometimes look over toward Farmer Brown's and chuckle. He was waiting for the black shadows to creep out from the Purple Hills.

By and by he saw them coming creeping slowly, slowly out across the Green Meadows and up the Crooked Little Path to his very feet. When it had grown quite dark, Jimmy Skunk arose and started for Farmer Brown's henhouse. He knew of a hole by which he could get in without any trouble. He could hear the sleepy chatter of the hens as they settled themselves more comfortably on the roosts. Jimmy waited. He wanted to be sure that all were asleep before he ventured in.

Soon all was still. Very cautiously Jimmy Skunk crept inside. He knew just where every nest was, for he had been there many times before. In the second one he looked into was a nice brown egg. It made Jimmy's mouth water, for Jimmy is very fond of eggs. But he closed his lips tightly and picked up the egg. Then he crept out of the henhouse and hurried, actually hurried, which is something very unusual for Jimmy Skunk, over to the Green Forest. There he hid the egg in a hollow stump. Then back he hurried for another egg. Three times he made the trip to Farmer Brown's henhouse and each time he took back an egg to put in the hollow stump.

By this time Jimmy Skunk was tired. But he couldn't stop to rest now. Down to the Laughing Brook he hurried and there he found Billy Mink.

"Hi, Billy Mink. I want a fish!" said Jimmy Skunk.

Billy Mink laughed. "Catch it then!" he cried.

"Come here. I want to whisper something," replied Jimmy Skunk.

Billy Mink came over and listened. Then he grinned. "All right," said he. "I'll do anything to get even with Shadow the Weasel, who stole my trout."

So presently Billy Mink, who is a famous fisherman, brought Jimmy Skunk a fat fish and Jimmy thanked him. Then he dragged it up through the Green Forest and finally put it in the hollow stump with the eggs. When he had done this, he hurried off to find Peter Rabbit and Johnny Chuck, for it was then just the beginning of the morning. It was hard work, but he finally got them to come up and hide with him near the hollow stump.

They had been there but a little while when they heard a rustling of the leaves. Jimmy reached over and poked Peter Rabbit. There was Shadow the Weasel running with his nose to the ground and following the smell of fish where Jimmy Skunk had dragged the trout that Billy Mink had given him.

Straight up to the hollow stump went Shadow the Weasel. He peeped inside. Then he looked all around to see if anyone was watching. He didn't see Jimmy Skunk and Peter Rabbit and Johnny Chuck.

"My!" exclaimed Shadow the Weasel, "these are better than the eggs of Mrs. Grouse!" and he disappeared in the hollow stump.

Peter Rabbit looked at Jimmy Skunk. Then he held out his hand. "I'm sorry, Jimmy Skunk, that I ever thought that it was you who stole the eggs of Mrs. Grouse. Now I'm going to hurry to tell everyone on the Green Meadows and in the Green Forest who it really was."

And Peter was as good as his word, so that every one hurried to tell Jimmy Skunk how much they thought of him.

That Body of Yours by James W. Barton, M.D.

SLEEP AND RELAXATION

When an individual is suffering pain, pain severe enough to keep him from sleeping, then he cannot be blamed if he takes a sleeping pill or tablet; that is, if he knows the cause of his pain. It is only too true, however, that sleeping tablets are now being used in a great many cases where no pain is present, but the individual is afraid he will not get to sleep, or that he may have a wakeful night which will unfit him for work the next day.

There are, of course, cases where no physical pain is present, but there is anguish from grief in which the use of a sleeping tablet for a short period is justified.

What about those who take the sleeping tablets regularly just to make sure of getting to sleep?

A sleeping tablet that deadens the senses so that sleep follows, if continued too long, fails to "soothe" the nervous system and acts almost like a blow to certain parts of the brain.

If, as mentioned above, the individual is suffering from grief which renders him too "alive" to his surroundings, the sleeping tablet can do less harm than that caused to the nervous system by grief or anguish which keeps him sleepless.

Those who worry about loss of sleep should remember that two hours of sound sleep and six or eight hours of relaxation will keep them alive, while four hours sleep and six hours in a relaxed condition, mental and physical, is enough to enable them to carry on their usual work.

It is having something on the mind, keeping interested in something even after one goes to bed, that interferes with sleep. Trying to outline plans for the next day, trying to solve some business or domestic problem, keeps body and mind alert.

If it is not anxiety or fear that is causing the wakefulness, although this is the cause in most cases, then the family physician should be consulted to try to find if there is a physical cause—digestive or nervous.

The external or "outside" causes of sleeplessness are an uncomfortable mattress, poor ventilation, coolness of the skin which prevents relaxation of muscles.

Trying to get complete relaxation by imitating one who is in profound sleep—breathing out completely, mouth open if necessary, legs and arms slightly bent—gives about 80 per cent as much rest as sleep itself.

FIND NO SABOTAGE

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Three hundred persons were questioned in the inquiry following sinking of three Swedish destroyers with great loss of life in September but no evidence of sabotage was found. The prevailing view is an accidental torpedo explosion caused the disaster.

Resident Gives Leopard Skin to Army Brass Band

Answering the request of the Dufferin and Haldimand Rifles for a leopard skin for their drummer, Cecil French, 701 Government Street, has donated the skin of a leopard he shot in Ethiopia in 1906.

Dufferin and Haldimand Rifles, an Ontario regiment, are now station[ed] in the Victoria area, where they a[r]rived recently from Nanaimo.

Mr. French brought down th[e] leopard while on an expedition [to] collect animals for the New Yo[rk] Zoological Park. The skin will [be] lined by W. & J. Wilson.

"My time," said the magnate, "[is] worth $100 a minute."

"Well," answered his friend ca[su]ally, "let's go out this afternoon [and] play $10,000 or $15,000 worth of gol[f]."

Bruins Look Like Team to Beat to Win Stanley Cup

Boston Officials Have Lined Up Powerful Club for Coming Hockey Campaign — Kraut Line Going Great Guns in Training—To Carry Fifteen Players—Clapper Is Captain

HERSHEY, Pa., Oct. 29 (CP)—If pre-season training means anything, and all of the National Hockey League managers agree it does, Boston Bruins may have an unbreakable grip on the Stanley Cup.

The champions, who regained the prized trophy by drubbing Detroit Red Wings four straight in last season's final series, have been practising here for a week which as Manager Art Ross said, "the most satisfactory preliminary work the Bruins have had in their eighteen seasons."

The same forces that enabled the Bruins to go through twenty-three games without a defeat while winning the league championship will attempt to defend it during 1941-42 with one possible exception.

Terry Reardon who endeared himself to Boston fandom last season, is having passport trouble and none of the Bruins management dares to predict the outcome. While Terry marks time in Canada, his place on the third line is being held down by nineteen-year-old Frankie Mario, up from Regina Rangers, Allan Cup champions.

Mario is the only newcomer to be signed to a Bruin contract and he can thank the Reardon situation for that.

GOING GREAT GUNS

The kraut line Centre Milt Schmidt and Wingers Bobby Bauer and Porky Dumart, have been going great guns here and so has the high-scoring second line, on which Bill Cowley, the Hart Trophy winner and top point-maker, centres for Roy Conacher and little Eddie Wiseman, who had the greatest year of his career last season.

Now that Cooney Weiland has moved here to run Hershey's American League club, Ross has returned to active coaching. So far his only problem has been organizing his third line, which now includes Mario Herb Cain and Pat McReavy. Art Jackson, now listed as the fifteenth player, appears determined to break in on it somewhere.

The same stout defence will protect Goalie Frankie Brimsek for Captain Dit Clapper, who reported at 205, five pounds less than his usual playing weight, again is paired with Des Smith, and Jack Crawford continues to come out with Flash Hollett.

If Reardon is unable to get across the border in time, Jack Schewchuk may be carried as a spare defenceman. That will permit Ross to move Hollett, the super-utility man, up front if there is need.

Jim Henry Named Rangers' Goalie To Replace Kerr

Lester Patrick Selects Young Sensation Who Performed With Regina Rangers Last Season to Guard Net for New York—Club to Meet Leafs Saturday Night

WINNIPEG, Oct. 29 (CP)—Jim Henry, acrobatic Winnipeg goalkeeper, who played a major role when Regina Rangers won the Dominion senior amateur hockey championship last Spring, will play in the National Hockey League this season with New York Rangers, Manager Lester Patrick announced last tonight.

Patrick announced signing of three other amateurs to Ranger contracts, including Right-Winger Grant Warwick and Centre Angus Cameron, both former Regina teammates of Henry, and Centre Norman Burns, of Granby, Que., who played last season with Washington Eagles of the Eastern United States Amateur League.

Patrick also said Rangers will carry eighteen players this season instead of the customary fifteen to insure Ranger replacements are quickly available when needed. Previously Rangers operated Philadelphia Ramblers of the American League as a minor league farm, but this season the Philadelphia club passed to other hands and Rangers have no professional farm.

Henry, Warwick and Burns will make their N.H.L. debut Saturday when Rangers meet Toronto Maple Leafs at Toronto. But Cameron, troubled with a back injury suffered while playing golf last Summer, will be given medical attention in New York before making his debut, Patrick said.

SUCCEEDS KERR

Patrick chose Henry as goalkeeper to succeed Davy Kerr, who has retired. Lester said Omer Kelly, goalie from Tulsa Oilers of the American Association, suffered a nervous disorder which reacted on his playing ability during the closing days of Rangers' training camp here. Kelly has been sent home to Baltimore, Md., and as soon as his physician pronounces him physically fit again he will resume play and probably will be given another year in the minors.

Henry, star of Brandon Elks junior hockey team for two years before moving to Regina a year ago, attended Rangers' training camp here. "He gets the call as a regular goalie for Rangers and I have every confidence in his making good," said Patrick. "He has everything that goes to make an ideal major leaguer."

Warwick, a member of Regina juvenile and junior teams before going to Regina Rangers, "can't miss being a sensation in the National League and the darling of the 'gods' in New York," said Rangers' boss.

Burns will play Saturday, but has yet to receive his passport to permit him performing with Rangers in the United States. Burns, 190-pound centre, and Warwick will fill spots vacated by Dutch Hiller and Kilby Macdonald. Hiller is now with Detroit Red Wings of the N.H.L. and Macdonald with Hershey of the American League.

Bill Juzda, defenceman with Ramblers last season, has been moved to Rangers' defence to fill the place vacated by Muzz Patrick, now serving in the United States Army.

Two other professionals on Rangers' roster, Norman Tustin up from Minneapolis Millers and Alan Kuntz, recently of Ramblers, probably will be farmed out, Patrick said.

RANGERS IN 8-3 VICTORY

Score Easy Win Over New York Americans at Port Arthur Rink

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 29 (CP)—The old Ranger magic flooded back here tonight paralyzing New York Americans and giving Frank Boucher's blueshirts an 8-3 victory in the third and final game of their exhibition series.

The victory left the Manhattan rivals all square, each with a win and a tie. Americans won 2-1 and played to a 1-1 tie in games staged on Winnipeg ice.

Judged the finest professional hockey game ever witnessed here, the exhibition drew slightly more than 2,000 fans.

Rookies fired the first shots in the Rangers' deadly barrage, but it was the "old guard" who made the victory so decisive. After Norm Tustin and Norm Burns, both newcomers, had put Rangers ahead in the first period, Lynn Patrick, with three counters, Bryan Hextall, Phil Watson and Art Coulter whistled shots past Earl Robertson, veteran in the American net.

Buzz Boll, Murray Armstrong and Billy Benson scored the goals that kept Amerks in the picture until Rangers pulled away in the middle stanza. Aggressors in the opening few minutes of play, Red Dutton's squad faded as the game progressed, unable to cope with the fine passing and tight defensive work of the Rangers.

It was the netminding of Jim Henry, potential successor to Dave Kerr, however, that kept Americans at a respectable goal level. In a game that featured a free-wheeling style of hockey, Henry made a big hit with the Lakehead fans.

The double-lineman system was given a further trial at the game, this time supplemented with two referees, one to face off the puck only. The linesmen worked from seats opposite each blue line.

Referees—J. Stirling and N. Friday, Port Arthur.

Linesmen—S. W. Guerard and A. W. Sell, Port Arthur.

The taxi was a very ancient one and had taken an unconscionable time to reach its destination.

As the passenger paid his far, he remarked:

Two Provincial Boxla Finals Billed Tonight

Oaklands School to Oppose Vancouver in Midget Play-Down at Sports Centre—James Bay and Salmon Arm Meet at 8:30 o'Clock

Hotbed of many of the city's leading lacrosse players, Oaklands School's 1941 crop of gutted-stick artists will be out to uphold the honor of their alma mater tonight, at the Willows Sports Centre, when they battle Vancouver midgets in a sudden-death game for the British Columbia championship.

The provincial play-off between the two midget squads has been billed for 7 o'clock, as a preliminary to the second and final contest of the best-of-three series for the intermediate championship between James Bay, Coast titleholders, and Salmon Arm, Interior champions. The second game will get under way at 8.30 o'clock.

Coached by R. H. McInnes, school principal, Oaklands' midgets played in the local juvenile loop all season and made a good showing against bigger boys. Tonight they will be gunning for their initial provincial championship, and in local circles they are conceded a good chance of providing the Mainland challengers with some real opposition.

Coach McInnes piloted his McLean's Bakery junior squad to the provincial title and will be out to annex his second straight championship this evening.

LOOKS A CINCH

The Bays-Salmon Arm fixture appears to be a cinch for the locals. Wednesday evening Manager Ted Menzies' proteges rolled to a 35-6 triumph over the invaders and unless the Interior boys show considerable improvement tonight, they will take another shellacking.

Tommy Middleton, likeable manager of the Salmon Arm team, said on his arrival here Monday evening that he had heard favorable reports about the James Bay Club, but it is doubtful if the boss of the Interior champions expected his proteges to take such a beating in the initial contest. The Salmon Arm players had another workout yesterday at the Sports Centre, and every player and even the management expressed the opinion that they would put up a better game tonight. Victoria fans certainly hope so.

Presentation of the Struthers Gunn Cup emblematic of the British Columbia championship, will be made to the manager of McLean's Bakery squad, during the half-time interval of the feature game. H. L. Delmonico, a member of the provincial executive from Vancouver will be here for the game and will make the presentation.

The intermediate championship cup will be presented at the conclusion of the James Bay-Salmon Arm fixture and, if it arrives in time the midget trophy will be presented immediately following the final of that division.

Line-ups follow:

James Bay—A. McKim, A. Chapman, W. Gornall, A. Ferguson, N. Baker, R. Baker, E. Sall, A. Ovcharick, C. Ovcharick, N. Conles, "Costello" Wallace, F. Doheny an T. McKeachie.

Vancouver Star Will Compete Here

JOAN LANGDON

MAINLAND aquatic star and one of Canada's outstanding swimmers, who will be on hand here Saturday from Vancouver to compete in the monster inter-city swimming gala at the Crystal Garden. Miss Joan Langdon set a new world's free style mark at Kelowna this Summer, and will be out to better other existing records at the gala here. Coach Percy Norman in charge of the Terminal City squad, has sent word along to say that the contingent will be the largest ever to invade Victoria in quest of aquatic honors. The gala will present the cream of British Columbia swimmers and promises to be the most spectacular of its kind ever presented at the Crystal Garden pool. Pick of Victoria mermaids and mermen will be on hand to oppose the Mainlanders. First race is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

High School to Face Warriors In Grid Tussle

VICTORIA High School Alumni and the rejuvenated Saanich Warriors, Canadian Rugby football squads, will meet Saturday at 2.30 p.m. at Macdonald Park. It was previously announced that Alumni would tackle the Oak Bay Blue Devils this Saturday.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances the first portion of the league schedule was reorganized, leading to some confusion, league officials explain.

All three teams are tied for first place with a win and a loss to their credit. Victory Saturday for Alumni or the Warriors sends that squad into the top berth. Both teams are fast and know their football and respective coaches are busy drilling their men all this week.

JUVENILES WILL PLAY THIS WEEK

Three Soccer Matches Scheduled for Young Players—Organization Meeting Saturday

Juvenile soccer squads will pry the lid off the 1941-42 season this week-end with three matches slated. Two games will be played on Saturday morning and a third on Sunday afternoon.

Draw for the opening games is as follows:

SATURDAY
Fourth Division

10.30—Gorge Rovers vs. James Bay, Royal Athletic Park, referee E. Kirchin.

10.30—Maple Leafs vs. Gorge Aces, Central Park, referee P. J. Woodley.

SUNDAY
First Division

2.30—St. Louis College vs. Shamrocks, Heywood Avenue, referee Pearse.

Juvenile soccer officials last night announced that plans for the organization of additional teams are going ahead nicely. Saturday is the big day this week and all boys under eighteen years of age not already registered with a team are asked to be at Royal Athletic Park at 10.30 o'clock.

Local officials will be on hand to register all boys interested and will do all in their power to organize the boys into teams. Former players willing to assist in the role of managers are also asked to be on hand at Royal Athletic Park on Saturday morning.

ORDERED OFF RACE TRACKS

Three Men and a Woman Ruled Off Turf for Life by Illinois Board

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Illinois Racing Board today ordered three men and a woman ruled off the turf for life in connection with its investigation of a race won at Hawthorne Park on September 24 by a horse listed as Rapid Bone, but later identified as another horse named Hasty Notion.

Barred from the turf were R. V. C. Van Cleve, listed by the board as owner-trainer of Rapid Bone; William E. Rafferty, reputed owner of Hasty Notion; Pete Walls, not definitely identified, and Mrs. George Ehringer, an aunt of Rafferty's.

In addition, the board ordered all evidence in the case turned over to the United States Attorney-General, the Illinois Attorney-General and Cook County's State's Attorney, Thomas Courtney, for a possible Grand Jury investigation.

Hasty Notion, or Rapid Bone, won a race at Hawthorne on September 24 at odds of 81 to 1.

The board said Van Cleve had purchased the horse from Brad Brodsky, of Philadelphia, for $9,500.

MATCH RACE AT PIMLICO

Market Wise and Haltal to Meet in $10,000 Event Today in East

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP)—A non-wagering match between Market Wise and Haltal in the Pimlico Special and the second running of the Exterminator Handicap, featuring the appearance of "Old Bones" himself, will mark the opening of the Maryland Jockey Club's thirteen-day Fall meeting tomorrow.

Since Market Wise and Haltal were the only entries in the $10,000 winner-take-all special, the Jockey Club decided to call off betting on the race, which has dwindled from a heralded contest of champions to a meeting between two horses that have no outstanding claims to fame.

Market Wise, whose nine victories in twenty-four starts this season include a decision over Whirlaway, has earned $77,965 for Owner Lou Tufano this year. Haltal, winner in six of his sixteen starts, had added $51,515 to the pocketbook of Owner Royce Martin.

In addition to the $10,000 purse, the winner of the mile and three-sixteenths test will get the $2,500 Maryland Jockey Club Gold Cup. Market Wise, a three-year-old, will carry 120 pounds and Haltal, a year older, 126 pounds. Wendell Eads will ride Market Wise and Conn McCreary will be up on Haltal.

Mrs. Marie Evans' Shot Put, winner of the event last year, heads the field for the $5,000-added Exterminator, to be decided over a route of two miles and seventy yards.

DOCKERS WILL MEET

A meeting of the Esquimalt football team will be held in the Fraser Street Hall this evening at 8 o'clock. All players are asked to make an effort to attend.

ESQUIMALT TO BATTLE WESTS

Senior Football Elevens Meet Sunday at Bullen Park in Garrison Cup Match

LEAGUE STANDING

	P	W	L	F	A	P
V.M.D.	2	2	0	5	2	4
Victoria West	2	1	1	8	4	2
Esquimalt	2	0	2	3	10	0

Game, Sunday: Victoria West vs. Esquimalt, Bullen Park, at 2:30 o'clock.

More than pleased with the showing of his club last week against the powerful Victoria Machinery Depot eleven, Manager Joe Watt is pointing his Esquimalt footballers for a victory Sunday over Victoria West. The clubs are scheduled to meet in a Garrison Cup match at Bullen Park with Dave McMillan as referee.

Greenshirts dropped a 2-1 verdict to the Depot squad in their last start, and the dockers suffered a 3-1 setback from the hands of the same team. Esquimalt, in the meantime, however, have been rebuilding their squad and Manager Joe Watt figures it is just about time they clicked in the winning style.

Norm Stewardson, goalie and playing manager of the Wests, will have his strongest available line-up on hand for the week-end engagement and expects to win. With the league-leaders drawing a bye, greenshirts can move into a first-place tie by turning back Esquimalt.

The fixtures at the Esquimalt playing field are proving very popular, each week attracting good crowds. With prospects of another keen battle this week-end, another large turnout is expected.

ICE PLAYERS ARE CHOSEN

Patrick Names Personnel of New York Rovers for Coming Schedule

WINNIPEG, Oct. 29 (CP)—Coach Fred Metcalfe and twelve players of New York Rovers and the Eastern United States Amateur Hockey League rolled across North Dakota tonight while at Winnipeg names of the players, kept a dark secret for weeks, were released.

Lester Patrick, manager of New York Rangers of the National League, who operates Rovers as a training unit, said the players, all from Manitoba and Saskatchewan, who received their passports to play in the United States, are:

Defence—Gordon Davidson and Alex Sandelack, both from Regina Rangers, Dominion senior amateur champions; Ted Colvin, of Winnipeg, and Walter Kyle, Wilcox, Sask.

Forwards—Bob Kirkpatrick, of Regina, with Flin Flon Bombers of the Saskatchewan Senior League last season; Hub Macey, Bill Robinson and Lewis Medynski, all from Winnipeg Rangers, Canadian junior champions; Gilbert Nordin, of Winnipeg Monarchs; Arthur Kendall, of Portage la Prairie Terriers, and Dave Livingstone, of Saskatoon Quakers.

Goal—Jack McGill, of Saskatoon Quakers' junior team last season.

Metcalfe, who piloted Regina Rangers to the Allan Cup victory last Spring, will have two other forwards, Bill Tilson and Howie Hollinger, both with Rovers last year.

At the close of the eighth annual Rangers amateur hockey school here two weeks ago, Patrick announced he had one of the best classes in the school's history, but declined to reveal names of any players attending. Today he announced the Rovers' line-up.

NOTED FISHERMAN DIES

SEATTLE, Oct. 29 (AP).—Requiem Mass will be said tomorrow for Daniel J. Conway, seventy-three, often called Washington's No. 1 sport fisherman and long holder of fishing licence No. 1. He died Monday after a four-day illness.

Conway, a locomotive engineer before coming to Seattle thirty-eight years ago, was famous for the trout flies he made as a hobby, and ex-President Hoover was among those who fished with Conway's flies.

Hooley Smith Is Out of Ice Game

MONTREAL, Oct. 29 (CP)—Hooley Smith, veteran of seventeen years in the National Hockey League, made it official tonight—he won't be playing hockey this year unless something worth-while turns up to change his mind.

Hooley said that he had received his outright release from Manager Red Dutton, of New York Americans, and now was a free agent and quite satisfied to "stay put" in his business in Montreal.

"I have been so busy at my office here that I really have not given much thought to hockey since it became obvious that Red Dutton and I weren't going to get together," he said.

According to Hooley, Dutton wanted him to train at Port Arthur and then discuss a playing price, while Smith wanted a contract similar to the one he had last year before he made the trip West.

DETROIT, Oct. 29 (AP)—Detroit Red Wings finished their home pre-season training schedule today and will leave tomorrow for Montreal for their National Hockey League season opener with Canadiens on Saturday.

Manager Jack Adams, starting his fifteenth year as Detroit's leader, said his squad was at full strength except for Wilbur (Dutch) Hiller, who has a hip injury. Adams had planned to start Hiller at left wing on his first line with Syd Howe and Modere Bruneteau, but Otto Giesebrecht has climbed the centre job, Howe moving to left wing.

The Wings play an exhibition game tomorrow night at Niagara Falls, Ont., and then will continue to Montreal.

GUNNERS DEFEAT GARRISON, 2 TO 0

Goals by Bobby Lea and Terry Peers Give Artillerymen Soccer Victory At Work Point

Two late last-half markers yesterday brought the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade footballers through to a 2-0 victory over the Garrison "Reds" in an Army soccer match played at Work Point Barracks.

The teams battled through the first forty-five minutes on fairly even terms with each of the goalies being called upon to make good saves. There was no score at the breather.

For forty minutes of the final session the players were unable to punch a hole on the score sheet. And then, with about eight minutes to go, Bobby Lea registered for the Gunners. Just before the final whistle Terry Peers tallied with a high shot to the corner of the net to give the artillerymen a 2-0 victory.

Doug Pearce, playing fullback for Sergeant "Hank" Campbell's Garrison "Reds," was a tireless workhorse and turned in a sparkling game on the defence. McConnell, who before joining the army played for Esquimalt, was a tower of strength on the Gunners' back division.

Joe Obee refereed.

NO ADVANCE IN USED CAR PRICES AT WILSON & CABELDU

AS EXPECTED, NEW CAR PRICES ARE up and this means a corresponding increased value in used cars. At Wilson & Cabeldu we are showing almost every make at every price, but there has been no increase in price. At present price levels every one of these thoroughly reconditioned cars is an amazing value. At Wilson & Cabeldu today you can put a used car blindfolded and make a good investment, but higher allowances for trade-ins may force us to increase used car prices, so we sincerely urge you to select now and the same is true of our fine selection of trucks in all standard makes.

Stocks Continue On Down Course On Wall Street

NEW YORK, Oct 29 (AP).—Giving scarcely a nod to a budget of favorable business news the stock market traveled a bit farther today on the downward course it followed most of October.

Speculative contingents again seemed preoccupied with the intangibles on the adverse side—the widespread labor disputes in a number of defence industries, Russia's chances of staving off defeat at the hands of the Germans and this country's chances of becoming more deeply involved in the war.

The Associated Press sixty stock average finished with a net decline of .3 of a point at 40.8. This carried the composite to within .4 of a point of the October reaction low, which was the market's lowest average level since June 6.

Transfers amounted to 552,350 shares against 559,730 yesterday.

Wheeling Steel climbed a point on the declaration of $1.25 dividend, making total disbursements of $2 a share for the year.

International Silver pushed up 1 3-4 to a 1941 high after announcement of a $3 dividend.

Showing final declines of fractions to a point or more were Chrysler, Case, Dow Chemical, Union Carbide, Owens-Illinois and Glenn Martin. Moderate ahead were United Aircraft, Douglas, Bethlehem Steel, Kennecott and Standard Oil (N.J.).

LOVE WILL COME AGAIN

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY

CHAPTER LVII

April covered her face with her white hands. "Don't," she cried. "I can't bear it, Hill! Please wait. Don't ask me to marry you now. Wait until I walk again. I promise you the day I walk, we'll be married."

Hill remembered suddenly that if he urged April too strongly she might suspect that the doctors held no hope for her complete recovery. He said, his heart turned to lead:

"All right, sweetheart. We'll leave it that way for the time being. On the day you walk, you have a date to go to the marriage license bureau with me."

He bent, kissing her lightly on the lips, making a gallant effort to sound unworried. April's little chin set stubbornly.

"I'll walk! You'll see! They're not going to keep me in this cast much longer. Oh, Hill, don't you know just knowing you love me and that we are going to be married again will cure me? What more could I need? Oh, Daddy, I wish Kenny weren't asleep! I'll tell him the first thing when he wakes up in the morning."

Hill chuckled. "I suppose you're going to have an awful time trying to explain how you and he can undivorce me."

April smiled wearily. Hill dreaded leaving her, but he got up.

"You must rest now, lady. You've had enough excitement for one evening. I'd better get back over to my igloo and get to work. I've a lot of correspondence to get out."

"Silly, isn't it?" April sighed. "Your living in a room across the street, when you ought to be here beside me. But you'll be back some day soon. Good night, Daddy."

Hill walked out, tears blinding his eyes. He went into his son's room for a little while, kneeling beside the bed to kiss a bright little cheek. And Kent Hillyer prayed as he had never prayed before in his life, that God would grant a miracle that would give him back his wife and child.

He went back to his small room with mixed feelings of relief and sadness. The knowledge that April still loved him was a great load off his heavy heart. But he still had a long way to travel along the road to happiness.

As long as the distance from his room and the apartment stretched between he and his family they were still a million miles apart even though his heart was in the house across the street.

April was lying unable to sleep when Cherry opened the door softly and tiptoed in. April opened her eyes.

"Hello, honey," she smiled. "Where have you been?"

"Pat and I went to the movies." Cherry adjusted her pillows, and bent to kiss her cheek. "How do you feel?"

April sighed. "Oh, lots better. A little tired, but very happy."

"Happy?" Cherry sat down beside her. "Why especially happy? Did something nice happen?"

April nodded swiftly, closing her eyes. "Hill just left a little while ago."

Cherry sat up in her chair. "What's so wonderful about that?" she asked suspiciously.

"He loves me," April opened her eyes, watching her sister. "And we're going to be married again when I am well."

Cherry gasped. "Oh, no! Oh, April what about Curt? Have you broken your engagement to him?"

"He was here this afternoon," April explained. "Curt told me all about what Hill had done. I knew then how much Hill loved me. How could I marry Curt, honey, when I love Hill?"

"Darn it!" Cherry exclaimed childishly. "I knew that was going to happen! And after I've tried so to hate the guy, too."

"Hate who?" April asked.

"Hill!" Cherry's lips broke into a little smile. "You wouldn't expect me to hate Curt, would you? Oh, darlin' I don't know whether to laugh or cry."

"You used to be very fond of Hill," April reminded her sister.

"I worshiped him until he made me lose all faith in love and marriage," Cherry sighed. "I haven't believed much in anything since. I used to think your romance was the most wonderful thing I'd ever seen in my life. Like a lovely fairy tale."

April smiled. "Well, my pet, you can just write another chapter. Because some of these days the Kent Hillyer's are going to be married again, and live happily ever after—this time."

Cherry's lovely mouth broke in a little girl laugh. "Well, I guess I'll have to go out and tell Pat I've changed my mind about being an old maid. If you're going to take a chance on that heel you're in love with, I guess I can take a chance on him."

Pat had been reading a newspaper while he waited for Cherry to come back from April's room. Cherry paused in the doorway, her heart beating very fast, then she went to him swiftly and sat down on the arm of his chair. She was a little breathless with the suddenness of her decision.

Pat dropped his paper to the floor, and gathered her in his arms. When he kissed her she clung to him with a new passion that surprised the young attorney. When Cherry finally pulled away he looked at her quizzically.

Cherry dropped her pansy eyes, twisting a button on his coat, her cheeks pink. She said with a sudden adorable shyness.

"Mister Hastings, if you're not too busy tomorrow, will you marry me?"

Amazement crossed Pat's lean, brown face, then his arms tightened around her.

"Cherry Lind, if this is a new game you're playing with me, it isn't funny."

Cherry put her lovely lips close to his saying in a whisper:

"I love you so, Pat. Will you marry me right away. Please?"

Pat kissed her again and he knew there was no doubt that the problem child had grown up. His arms trembled as he held her close, knowing at last that she was all his.

"You—mean it," he said huskily looking deep into her eyes. "My darling, you do mean it."

Cherry nodded swiftly, her eyes shining. Then she laughed softly:

"Let's elope—tonight. We can't get married in New York without waiting several days. Let's elope to Virginia, and surprise mother and your folks."

Pat grinned foolishly.

"Okay, Miss Lind! Tomorrow is Saturday and I don't have to go to the office. If we start now we can make it in time to be married Saturday evening. It's a date!"

Cherry giggled her little girl giggle. "Won't everybody be surprised? I don't want any fuss or preacher, and nobody will know till it's all over. I'll leave a note for April. She'd love it that way. I know she would! I—it's so much more romantic don't you think?" Cherry babbled breathlessly.

Pat kissed her again: "It sounds plenty romantic for me, Sugar. Let's go!"

SAYS DIPLOMATIC STAFF UNCHANGED

Irish Commissioner Denies Number In German Mission in Dublin Increased

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 (CP) — J J Hearns, high commissioner for Ireland in Canada, said today Germany has five diplomatic representatives [illegible] fore the war began.

Mr. Hearne was commenting on a Toronto speech yesterday by Hon R B Hanson in which the Conservative House leader described Eire as "the back-door menace" to Britain because of her neutrality and said he had been told Germany's diplomatic mission in Dublin had risen from fifty to upwards of 2,000

Mr Hearne, who represents Eire in Canada, said

"The exact number of the German diplomatic staff in Eire was five before the war and it is five still. Mr. De Valera (Prime Minister De Valera, of Eire) has made that clear, again and again"

A Pimple Covered Face Kills Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples, and you probably know of cases where a promising romance has been spoiled by those red, white, festering and pus filled sores on the face.

The trouble is not so much physical pain, but the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company

The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood

Burdock Blood Bitters helps to cleanse the blood and with the blood cleansed the complexion should clear up.

Visits Cadets Training in the U.S.

While visiting the United States Southeast Air Corps training centre recently, Air Marshal A. R Garrod, head of the Royal Air Force training for the British Empire, got right down "on the line" to chat with English cadets more than 3,000 miles from home. Here at the air corps basic flying school at Gunter Field, Alabama, where hundreds of Britons are being trained, he leaves his official delegation long enough to talk things over with Cadet F. H. Maywhort, of Congleton, Cheshire.

"THE RETURN OF DR. X" AT YORK

John Litel, Dennis Morgan and Humphrey Bogart Are the Co-Starring Trio in Thriller

The most nerve-wracking job in Warner Bros Studio recently belonged to Dr. Leo Morton Schulman. Dr. Schulman, well-known Hollywood surgeon, was the technical adviser for the eerie motion picture, "The Return of Doctor X" which opens today at the York.

The technical expert had two actors John Litel and Dennis Morgan, who never were in a hospital except for a casual visit, playing surgeons and haematologists, and he practically had to dress these two fractious charges every morning, before they showed up before Director Vince Sherman.

Schulman next had to pass on a makeup which would turn Humphrey Bogart into a modern day Lon Chaney, and cause an audience to realize that while Bogart was alive, he also was a creature who belonged under the sod with the dead people The makeup proved so successful that Bogart ordered all the mirrors out of sight.

Stars in Thriller Showing at York

Rosemary Lane, in "The Return of Dr. X," now showing at the York Theatre.

ACTOR PORTRAYS DIFFERENT ROLE

"They Knew What They Wanted" Co-Stars Charles Laughton and Carole Lombard

A striking departure from his customary sinister character portrayals, Charles Laughton plays a thoroughly human, likeable individual in RKO Radio's "They Knew What They Wanted," in which he is co-starred with Carole Lombard at the Oak Bay Theatre starting today

The distinguished actor, who long will be remembered for his memorable interpretations of Captain Bligh, Quasimodo, Ginger Ted and Henry VIII among others, is currently cast as a boisterous unlettered but warm-hearted Latin vineyardist—Tony Patucci

Garson Kanin directed this production by Erich Pommer based on the famous Pulitzer Prize play by the late Sidney Howard.

Margaret Lockwood Is Launched To Stardom In "The Stars Look Down"

In England even as in Hollywood it's an advantage to an actress to play a "meanie" once in awhile rather than a saccharine beauty in all her pictures So believes Margaret Lockwood who is launched to stardom as unscrupulously beauty in "The Stars Look Down" adaptation of the novel by A J Cronin author of "The Citadel" The new drama is now playing at the Plaza Theatre

Miss Lockwood, in her five years on the British stage and screen, had played polite characters She scored success, and even attracted attention in America with "The Lady Vanishes" and "Bank Holiday" But her latest role as a woman whose beauty hides a cruel and selfish soul and whose intrigues almost end the career of the man who loves her, brought her a landslide of applause from the British public.

TIM HOLT STARS IN RIO WESTERN

Marjorie Reynolds, Ray Whitley, and Other Favorites Head the Supporting Cast

Climaxing a series of fist fights and six-gun battles, Tim Holt hits the heights of action drama as he uses a dynamite technique against his opponents They, too resort to throwing the deadly sticks, and from there on the RKO - Radio star's current outdoor melodrama is sizzling with thrills It's titled "Cyclone on Horseback"

Holt becomes involved in the difficulties of Corbin, a pioneer in the business of stringing telephone wire across wild prairie and mountainous country of the West in early efforts to establish the then new communications system Corbin, set upon by an unscrupulous rival contractor and his renegades, is about to lose his fight to complete his wire stringing by a deadline date, when Holt comes to his rescue

Marjorie Reynolds, Ray Whitley and other favorites head the supporting cast.

ATLAS THEATRE The biggest pair of roller skates ever made were worn by Harpo Marx in the wild chase on skates that climaxes "The Big Store" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new Marx Brothers picture ending at the Atlas Theatre.

They were especially designed and then made by the studio wardrobe and property departments.

CAPITOL THEATRE Emlyn Williams known on both sides of the Atlantic as a superb playwright, plays the role of Snobby Price in Gabriel Pascal's production of the great Shaw comedy "Major Barbara," which is at the Capitol Theatre Snobby Price is a colorful character who has definite ideas on the social inequalities of the present system.

DOMINION THEATRE With an impressive cast lending them valuable support June Withers and Jackie Cooper are featured at Dominion Theatre for the final showing today of "Her First Beau" which has been hailed as one of the season's gayest comedies

ANNA NEAGLE STARRING IN FEATURE AT CADET

Stressing its delightful romance along with its gay Jerome Kern tunes and its spectacular dance numbers, Anna Neagle's new "Sunny" is hailed as an exceptionally attractive film musical, and as something of an innovation in screen entertainment being very different from any of Miss Neagle's earlier vehicles

Seven unique dance routines and the four song hits of the original show, including the memorable "Who?" are woven into the plot of the story, laid against the colorful background of New Orleans during the Mardi Gras season

"Sunny" comes to the Cadet Theatre today.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Specialization yields perfection. Unusual or attractive doorways make interesting subjects. Instead of shooting at random, pick a picture specialty for more pleasure out of your camera hobby.

MANY amateur photographers take a variety of pictures—shooting any likely subject One roll of film, when developed, may yield a landscape two or three informal portraits a few action shots, a pet picture—and possibly others

Now this is all to the good, for there is nothing like variety for adding interest and appeal to a picture collection. To get even more pleasure out of your snapshooting and assist you in becoming a better photographer however, choose a picture specialty

There are two very good advantages in specializing First, it gives you something definite to follow, and when you are in the mood for taking snapshots, you needn't just seek subjects at random.

Second, a collection of pictures centered on one subject tends to be more interesting—because you can make comparisons. For example, suppose you enjoy making sunset pictures. By taking snapshots and studying them, you can not only become an expert on this particular subject, but you can gather a fascinating collection of pictures that will be thoroughly enjoyed by everyone

Furthermore, such specialities are not merely a comparison of the different forms or types They teach you a great deal about photography because they give you plenty of pictures that can be compared on their technical merits alone If your specialty is informal portraits, in a short while you will be able to tell just what lighting produces the best results and the camera position best suited for different types of faces In this way you have learned something definite—a principle that you can apply later in taking other pictures.

There are a number of fine specialties open to the amateur photographer Nature photography, pets and animals, table top pictures, sports and action, landscapes, flowers, and many, many others offer possibilities too numerous to mention.—John van Guilder.

A NAVAL QUESTION

The soldier was explaining the theory of shooting to his girl friend

"You see we have to calculate the distance of the object we want to hit, and then allow for the power of attraction of the earth"

"But suppose you are shooting over water?"

"Oh that's more than you would understand—besides, I'm not in the navy"

Benes' Property Seized by Nazis

BERLIN, Oct 29 (AP) — German secret police today announced they had confiscated the property of Edward Benes, President of Czecho-Slovakia before its dismemberment. (Benes is President of the Czech Government in London.)

RAID SIRENS ARE ON ORDER

One Hundred Alarms Will Be Established in Greater Victoria Area

Tenders will be opened at Ottawa today for upwards of 550 special air raid sirens on order for three centres [illegible] M Moodie, of the Provincial Civilian Protection Committee, announced yesterday. One hundred of the sirens will be made available in the Greater Victoria area, on arrangement with municipal and air raid precaution services.

Vancouver will have 400 sirens, and an indeterminate balance are to be installed at Prince Rupert, it was intimated.

As already announced, the sirens will carry a special wavering note, to be distinguishable from fire alarms. Other centres will be equipped as time goes on, Inspector Moodie indicated.

The placing of the sirens is being worked out by a joint committee of military, telephone and other engineers, under Provincial direction

Will Supervise Retail Prices

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 (CP).—Appointment of Edgar Gordon Burton of Toronto, general manager of the Robert Simpson Company Limited, as administrator of retail trade, was announced today by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

First of the administrators to be named in connection with the programme, Mr. Burton will supervise retail prices and it is under his jurisdiction that board branch offices across Canada will operate. He will serve without remuneration

FOR PERIODIC REFITS

LONDON, Oct. 29 (CP)—An authoritative source said today that many of the British warships in United States repair bases were there "for periodic refits." He said an announcement that British warships were in United States docks might have given a general impression that all were damaged "by enemy action," an impression, he said, which is incorrect

STABILIZATION OF PRICES AND WAGES

Your Country asks your loyal support of this necessary Wartime Measure

TWO NEW CONTROLS have now become essential in Canada's wartime design for living. These are:

(1) Control of Prices

Commencing November 17, 1941, there may be no increase in the prices of goods and services generally unless absolutely necessary and authorized by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

(2) Control of Wages

No employer, with certain limited exceptions, may increase the basic wage rates paid to his employees unless authorized by a Board on which the Government, employers and employees are represented. But after February 15, 1942, every employer, with the same exceptions, will be obliged to pay a cost of living bonus and to adjust this bonus every three months.

Action Necessary to Stop Inflation

This Government action has been taken to prevent the inflation we knew in the last war, and its subsequent depression, unemployment and suffering.

Every housewife knows that prices are rising, and rising prices, unless controlled, will make it more costly and difficult to finance the war. Rising prices, unchecked, will spread confusion in industry and trade; will hinder production and proper distribution of supplies; will make the cost of living rise more rapidly than wages and salaries; will lessen the value of savings; will result in hardship for almost everyone, and especially those with small incomes. And the result of uncontrolled inflation, after the war, when prices drop, will again be depression and unemployment. Prices cannot be controlled without control of wages. Excess profits are, and will continue to be, under rigid control.

Coverage of Wages Stabilization Order

The Order is applicable to the following employers:

1—Every employer normally subject to the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act.
2—Every employer engaged in the manufacture of munitions of war, or war supplies, or the construction of defence projects.
3—Every building trades employer with ten or more employees.
4—Every other private employer with fifty or more employees.

The Order does not apply to employers in agriculture or fishing, or to hospitals, religious, charitable or educational associations operated on a non-profit basis.

Wage Provisions

Except on written permission of the National War Labour Board, no employer may increase his basic wage rates. This permission can only be given in cases where the Board has found the wage rates to be low. Wage rates which are unduly high will not have to be decreased, but in such cases the Board may order the employer to defer the cost of living bonus.

Cost of Living Bonus

Every employer covered by the Order must pay to all his employees except those above the rank of foreman a wartime cost of living bonus.

Effective November 15, each employer already paying a bonus under PC 7440 of December 16, 1940, shall add to such bonus an amount based on the rise in the cost of living index for October, 1941, above the index number used to determine the current amount of the bonus.

Effective February 15, 1942, each employer who has not been paying a cost of living bonus must begin to pay a bonus based on the rise in the index between October, 1941, and January, 1942, unless ordered by the Board to base the bonus on the rise in the cost of living over a longer period.

The bonus is calculated on the following basis: For each rise of one point in the cost of living, the amount of the bonus shall be 25 cents per week, except for male workers under 21 years of age and female workers, who, if employed at basic rates of less than $25.00 per week, shall receive a bonus of 1 percent of their basic wage rates.

These bonuses will be adjusted regularly every three months.

Administration

The Order will be administered by five regional Boards under the direction of a National War Labour Board. Labour and employers will be represented on each of these Boards. Watch for the announcement of these Boards to which inquiries concerning the application of the Order should be directed.

Whole-Hearted Support Required

Your Government knows that this policy, as it affects labour, industry, commerce, and agriculture, demands a degree of restriction to which Canadians are not accustomed, and is directly a wartime measure. It will demand self-discipline and self-control. It will need the whole-hearted support of every one who has the well-being of his fellow citizens at heart. But by loyal co-operation, Canadians can have much more assurance that the fears, sense of insecurity, the suffering and profiteering which inflation always brings, will neither interfere now in the winning of this war, nor in the recovery and reconstruction of Canada and the Canadian way of living after the war is over.

Issued under the authority of
Hon. N. A. McLARTY,
Minister of Labour.

SALVAGE NEEDS ARE OUTLINED

Iron and Steel Scrap, Fats, Tinfoil and Rags Are Urgently Required

Iron and steel scrap is urgently needed for the manufacture of bomb casings and other ammunitions the Salvage Corps of British Columbia points out in issuing a detailed list of articles which can be salvaged to further the country's war effort.

"Cast iron is needed especially here as its value ($78 per ton) makes its salvage a popular undertaking," the bulletin states. Mines, quarries, railways, construction companies and logging camps are asked to give or sell this metal immediately.

FAT IS REQUIRED

Bones cannot be collected in Victoria at present, and fats could be collected only by the municipal garbage system. For saving fat, smoke-dried tins should be used in kitchens. Fat in forty-gallon barrels, shipped to Vancouver, would probably realize over $30 per ton. The Salvage Corps has the addresses of Wong Points here reclaimed fat in Britain. It is illegal to waste fat and bones.

The Salvage Corps will accept tinfoil in any quantity at 1220 Government Street or any of its depots. Foil should be left flat, not rolled into balls. Some of these are built up around stones, and all have to be undone.

Only Victor and Bluebird phonograph records are acceptable as salvage. These are recoiled to produce new ones, saving materials now scarce.

TIN CANS UNACCEPTABLE

Tin cans are useless at present. The two useful metals, iron and tin, are too closely united to separate economically now. Later, if permitted by law, some can this may be used a second time by factories.

Rags, the Salvage Corps reports, are very badly needed. They are used in wiping machinery, eventually darkened planes making depth charges and airplane propellers, and by paint and varnish shops in airplane construction. Rags also are used in glazing. Bins, tips to aeroplane propellers and wrapping engine parts to prepare them for shipping.

RAGS URGENTLY NEEDED

Woolen rags, after being sterilized, shredded and mixed with virgin wool, are made into good army blankets and clothing of warmth and quality.

Anyone willing to supervise development of the supply of these materials and the disposal of any one of them is invited to see A. H. Pease at 1220 Government Street. The Salvage Corps is insufficiently assisted and supported to carry on this national work adequately and urgently require men and women of ability and leisure to aid it.

THE WRONG WOLF

Two Scotsmen had ventured into the wilds. On their first night the dismal howling of a wolf disturbed their rest. Macpherson rose to his feet, seized his rifle and said:

"An'll bet ye an ounce o' tobacco I kill that wolf!"

He went out into the darkness. Three hours later he returned, dragging a dead wolf. MacTavish parted with an ounce of tobacco.

Just before dawn another howl rent the air and MacTavish said:

"Give me that tobacco back. Ye've killed the wrong one!"

BETTER LANGUAGE

"My dear" said the champion borrower, "when I returned Mr. Stormy power with the blade broken he swore at me!"

His wife smiled.

"We don't want that sort of thing to happen again, dear," she replied. "You'd better borrow from the vicar next time."

Britons' Concern Is Over Changing Times When Conflict Ended

Future of Mankind and State of World Not of Great Interest but Britisher Anxious Over Jobs or Lack of Them

(Consolidated News Features)

LONDON, Oct. 29.—A deep impression has been created on British public opinion by the proceedings of the conference on science and world order held recently in London. The resolutions adopted by the conference have been discussed up and down the country with a measure of interest which has surprised this observer.

The Briton is not scientifically-minded. Of the higher flights of science he knows nothing and cares less. The working class and the lower middle class, which between them form the bulk of the population, are mostly concerned with their jobs or the lack of them, to a certain extent with following professional games, generally football, and a great deal with horse racing. Humanity's future does not greatly interest them.

Somehow, however, this war much more than the first Great War, has awakened in these people a feeling of anxiety for the years to come. Postwar problems loom much larger in the mind of the man in the street than they ever did before. This may be because many people who are enrolled for some form of active service in this war also served in the last one and they think one major war in a man's life may be all right, but that two are too much. Now this feeling is expanded and the possibility of a third Great War in a single lifetime has to be envisaged.

IS NOT GOOD ENOUGH

The Englishman, squeezed like a lemon in a press by his income tax demands, worried but not starved by rationing, and puzzled by clothing coupons, to say nothing of being bombed out of his little house from time to time, says that such a future is not good enough.

That is why the conference which began with no particular ringing of bells as far as the general public was concerned suddenly captured people's imagination. It provided answers for the inarticulate desires of the masses. These masses gradually became alive to the truths set forth in the resolutions of the conference which might well be described as the "new rights of man."

People acknowledged that the demand that there should be liberty to learn, opportunity to teach and power to understand was a righteous one and that there was no shadow of a hope that any such liberty would be enjoyed if totalitarianism were not utterly destroyed. All the other resolutions adopted by the conference radiate from that liberty.

Scientific inquiry, intellectual freedom, the unrestricted international exchange of knowledge derive from that liberty to learn and would be killed by the very principles that Hitler is trying to force down the throats of Europe and indeed of the world.

The memorable words of United States Ambassador John G. Winant at the conference have been quoted in the most unexpected places in this country.

THE NEEDS OF MAN

"Let us never forget," he said, "the obligation of science to satisfy the primary needs of man so that the essentials of life are recognized equally as a part of the rights of man. We must abolish both hunger and the sword as a means of forcing labor."

England has been fortunate that the primary needs of its inhabitants, although in jeopardy, have not vanished. Hunger or the sword have not been the means of forcing labor, but those words put into articulate speech the unspoken thoughts of millions of people in England, and these people, looking across the narrow strip of water to the continent of Europe, are well aware that both hunger and the sword are driving whole nations of Hitler's victims to fulfill the slave labor imposed on them.

Notwithstanding the more fortunate situation of Britain, the country realises that there is little likelihood of a postwar world having the same amount of food at its disposal as in the days before hostilities broke out. It realizes too that a better distribution of food will have to be organized. Food production has never been studied so closely in England as it has today and the very large tracts of country, relatively speaking, which are now made to grow food and which a few years ago were either preserved for shooting game or were allowed to lie fallow, will have to continue to bear the fruits of the earth for the use of man in peacetime.

LESS OF HUNTING

I can see a great deal of the hunting and shooting regions of England being spoiled for those pursuits. This will not weigh as heavily on the people as one might think, though. be able to afford to hunt, that is to say, to hunt the fox on horseback according to a ritual which has come down through generations and costs a lot of money.

To the observer whose mind can go back for a generation the present is a time when the idea of the pursuit of happiness is developing in people's mind to a surprising degree. The English spirit has not been very articulate about happiness in the past; even in the recent past of my own memory, but people are becoming increasingly vocal about it and it is of course all to the good that they should be so.

It is perhaps explainable that a certain Puritanism which is still very visible in England, especially in the provinces, rather acted as a brake to any thoughts of happiness as it is understood by young people nowadays. These thoughts certainly cut across the "other worldliness" which we are told should never be lost sight of.

The conference has certainly struck a great blow in defence of human happiness in the best sense of the term. I have no doubt that it was accepted and welcomed by the British people for that reason and I believe that the seeds it has sown which are only just beginning to show their shoots above ground will bear most useful fruit.

2ND C.M.R. TO HOLD REUNION

Former Members of Unit to Gather in Vancouver on November 8

The Whizzbangs Association will hold the twenty-third reunion of the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles in the form of a dinner this year in the Georgia Hotel, Vancouver, at 8.30 p.m., Saturday, November 8.

Lt.-Col. G. C. Johnston, D.S.O., M.C.; Lt.-Col. W. Bapty; Colonel Miller; Major J. MacGregor, V.C., M.C., D.C.M., and many other officers and men have expressed their intention of being present.

Organized in August, 1914, at Vernon as the 30th British Columbia Horse, under Colonel Bott, and later reformed in Victoria as the 2nd C.M.R., the men of this unit, although originally trained as cavalry, went to France as infantry in 1915.

They served with distinction in many battles on the Western Front at Ypres, on the Somme, Vimy Ridge, Passchendaele, Amiens, and came back with many honors and awards. Several members of the 2nd C.M.R. are serving again in the present war.

Major-General Pearkes, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., commander of the First Canadian Division in England in the present war, was an original member of the battalion and worked his way up from the ranks by merit and bravery.

ENTERTAINMENT AIDS WAR FUND

Brilliant Costumes Displayed as Hudson's Bay Company Beaver Club Stages Carnival

Employees of the Hudson's Bay Company raised several hundred dollars, to be contributed to the store's Active Service Force Welfare and Entertainment Fund, when the Beaver Club staged a penny carnival and hard times dance in the Shrine auditorium, Tuesday night.

More than 300 patrons in gay costume attended the carnival which included a variety of games of "chance" and of skill, and ended with dancing.

First prize for comic costume was won by Mr. and Mrs. W. Nicholls. Miss Dorothy Harper and Gordon Craig won prizes for the most original dress. Richard Clarke was awarded first prize for the best hard times costume in the men's division, while Miss L. Schemago won similar honors in the women's section.

Among those attending were A. J. Watson, store manager, and Mrs. Watson.

Members of the entertainment committee were C. Walton, chairman, Miss Helen Humber, Miss L. Hogarth, Miss Thorne, Miss O. Ashton, K. Cave, L. J. Smith, J. Chambers and B. Davidson.

LAST THURSDAY'S QUESTIONS

Question 6: Both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Double	1 ♥	?

You are South and hold:
♠ 865432 ♥ 72 ♦ QJ6 ♣ 54

Answer: One spade. This hand is worth a free bid opposite partner's take-out double. True, your honor strength is almost nil, but you have a six-card spade suit and can show it at the one level. If you fail to bid now, you may be shut out of the auction or may have to enter at a prohibitive level. (Fifteen points demerit for a pass, thirty points demerit for two, three, or four spades, fifty points demerit for any other call.)

Question 7: Both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Double	1 ♠	?

You are South, and hold:
♠ QJ1085 ♥ 6 ♦ 743 ♣ K1052

What call do you make?

Answer: Double. With North holding the strength for a take-out double, you certainly are strong enough to double one spade for penalties. No other action is logical. (Thirty points demerit for a pass, one no trump, or two clubs; fifty points demerit for any other call.)

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question 14: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

East	South	West	North

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the eight of clubs. East won and continued with the club jack. Declarer won with the king, and noted with satisfaction that dummy's ten of clubs was established and would afford a heart discard. He laid down the ace of spades and discovered, to his dismay, that East had started with all the outstanding trumps.

A little calculation disclosed that it would be necessary to enter dummy twice for spade finesses and a third time for the discard on the ten of clubs. (It was too risky to attempt to cash the ten of clubs earlier, since East's play indicated that he had started with a doubleton.)

The only means of entering dummy was through the diamond suit. Although South had three natural diamond tricks, it was necessary to risk the loss of a diamond in order to find the vital third entry to dummy.

Declarer therefore took his courage in both hands and finessed dummy's ten of diamonds. When this held, the contract was safe.

WHY IT IS UNLUCKY TO WALK UNDER A LADDER?

Unlike habits of dress, which every so often are discontinued—unmourned, unsung and unregretted—habits of mind persist, seem sometimes to grow more deep-seated down the centuries.

Who is the brave individual who will walk under a ladder?

Why do we consider it unlucky to do it?

The answer is in the voodoo-ridden, superstition-steeped, primitive period of man's existence.

Among the notions that fructified into this modern "It's bad luck to walk under a ladder" idea was the belief that once a year, with the advent of the rainy season, the sun descended into the holy fig tree, thence to the ground to fertilize the earth; and the descent of the sun was facilitated by a ladder, which, for those who insist upon details, had seven rungs.

To pass under the ladder was to run the risk of upsetting it, thus interfering with the solemn processes of nature portentious of dire consequences certain to ensue therefore, of course, strictly taboo.

Contributing to the perpetuation of this conception was the thought that trees housed demons which had it in their power to make man miserable, could even make him and his offspring die.

If you were going to build yourself a house in the vicinity of a tree, therefore—and trees then were everywhere—it was plainly common sense to coax the demons out of the tree with sacrificial offerings—presents—and make it easy for them to come down and move over to the neighbor's woods by placing a ladder against the tree.

It would then be very bad business to step under the ladder—you might knock it down while the imp was on his way out, causing him either to scuttle back to the tree or become wrathful and wreak his vengeance in his own fiendish way—if you were an unmarried eligible female, of example, you would stay that way for at least a year.

Such is the stuff out of which this "It's unlucky to walk under a ladder" superstitution is made—aided, abetted and cemented to the aeons by the queer quirks of coincidence—ladders which were sometimes very heavy would be unbalanced by people going under them, fall and injure them. The I-told-you-sos did the rest.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE

A fellow got on the bus with a hundred-pound bomb under his arm and sat down.

"What's that you've got on your lap?" asked the conductor.

"It's a delayed action bomb I'm taking to the police station," came the answer.

"Lumme," said the conductor, "you don't want to carry a thing like that on your lap. Put it under the seat!"
